U.S., Russia Agree on Treaty To Halt Nuclear Arms Spread

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union pre-sented today a new and com-missionable material in all ple draft treaty to halt the peaceful nuclear activities with-out spread of nuclear weapons.

The treaty contained an arti-cle, No. 3 on international con-sideration, or carried out under trols which was left blank in the original draft submitted to the 17-nation disarmament confer-ence last Aug. 24.

The new draft also included substantial amendments aimed at meeting strong criticisms by nonaligned nations, particularly India.

The key Article 3 recognizes the International Atomic En-ergy Agency as the body having over-all control over safe-guards. But it gave nonnuclear states 18 months in which to ne-gotiate separate arrangements with the IAEA.

These arrangements must ful-fill the provisions of Article 3.

Reds Smash Laos Troops Near Capital

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Triumphant North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao forces were re-ported today near the royal cap-ital of Luang Prabang after routing a 4,000-man government force to the north.

Government commanders were trying to find their routed forces, which account for one-sixth of all royal combat troops. Only about 1,000 of the troops have filtered back, informed sources said.

No one was willing to predict that the Communists were pre-pared to attack the royal cap-ital, but informed sources de-clared the Communists "could go anywhere in the country with a force that size." They estimat-ed the Communist force as reg-iment-sized, or about 1,200 men.

Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma called the military situ-ation "not too critical."

The North Vietnamese and Communist Pathet Lao routed the government troops six days ago from Nam Bac, 50 miles north of Luang Prabang. Nam Bac was the last major govern-ment stronghold north of the royal capital.

The Communist victory was the biggest in five years and they were reported maneuvering freely north of Luang Pra-bang.

Appleton Man One of Five To Die in 18-Vehicle Pileup

An Appleton truck driver, who stopped to give aid Wednesday at a massive car-truck pileup on a southern Indiana freeway, was killed when a truck smashed into him.

Alvin E. Fuhs, 38, 1820 Melo-dy Lane, Appleton, was driving a truck for Foremost Dairies on Interstate 65 near Sellersburg, Ind., when the pileup came into sight.

According to state police, the Fuhs pulled to the side of the road and was setting up flares when he was struck by a truck, one of 18 vehicles involved in the chain reaction tragedy. Four persons were killed in the couple who leaped from their undamaged car and ran up a hill. A piece of metal from a subsequent collision struck the woman, Mrs. Henry Merriman, 72, of Jackson, Mich., on the leg and she was hospitalized.

Fuhs, who had left Appleton Monday morning, was en route to Murfreesboro, Tenn. He is survived by his widow and two children.

Fuhs was born in Manawa and lived in Appleton for the past 14 years. He was a Korean War veteran. His mother, Mrs. Clara Fuhs, lives in Waupaca and a brother, Everett, lives in Weyauwega.

An Appleton Man was one of five killed when 18 cars and trucks piled up Wednesday on fog-shrouded Interstate 65 in southeastern Indiana. Alvin E. Fuhs,

'Shuffling' Predicted For Budget

$186 Billion Set By Administration In 'Unified' Plan

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration will try, to hold spending in check in its new "unified" $186 billion budget partly by shuffling program funds, officials say.

But some key members of Congress say they plan to seek cuts in what President Johnson referred to in his State of the Union message Wednesday night as a tight budget.

Johnson said spending in the new fiscal year which begins July 1 will increase by $10.4 billion, virtually all of it for de-fense needs and spending the administration is unable to con-trol.

Already Available Administration officials said money for such stepped-up pro-grams as model cities and man-power training will come from programs with less priority for which money is already avail-able.

They added the Pentagon plans to switch several billions from one fund to another to avoid seeking more money from Congress during the current fis-cal year.

Some construction projects are also likely to be deferred, it was said.

Johnson also appealed anew for adoption of a 10 per cent tax surcharge and requested removal of the gold backing for U.S. paper money. This would free about $10.7 billion in gold to de-fend the dollar abroad.

Under the new unified budget to be used for the first time this year, Johnson projected a defi-cit of $8 billion on spending of $186 billion and revenues—in-cluding the surcharge—of about $178 billion.

Huge Trust Funds These figures include for the first time spending and receipts from huge government-operated trust funds such as Social Secu-rity and highways—a spending item of about $47 billion.

Comments From Abroad

LONDON (AP) — President Johnson's State of the Union offer of a bombing halt for productive talks on Vietnam drew primary interest from the British and European press today. Financial mea-sures were of almost equal interest.

"LBJ spells out peace terms," was the London Eve-ning News' headline. The Evening Standard said: "LBJ switches his Vietnam peace policy." The Times headline read: "Johnson resolute on war but ready for peace."

There was no official British government reaction.

Jeremy Campbell of the Evening Standard wrote from Washington that the Presi-dent's offer represents a "new shift of American policy, in-tended to test Hanoi's sinceri-ty."

'Defied Critics' The Times reported: "Presi-dent Johnson defied critics of his Vietnam war policy last night and said the United States response to the Com-munists could only be a rallying cry of no retreat."

Commenting on the domes-tic scene, Richard Evans of the Evening News reported from New York: "Obviously wary of the fact that 1968 is an election year, he offered no radically new proposals to cure the nation's ills—seem-ing content to stand pat on pre-vious policies."

The Financial Times led with Johnson's request for a congressional removal of the 25 per cent gold cover to back domestic currency. Joe Ro-galy, the newspaper's U.S. editor, wrote: "The purpose is to demonstrate that the entire U.S. gold stock (now down to around $12 billion) is behind American determination to keep the price of gold at $35 an ounce."

Vincent Ryder of the Con-servative Daily Telegraph wrote: "For an election year State of the Union speech, it was almost sensationally dull. It sounded very much as though Mr. Johnson intends to try to patch together his old 'national consensus' approach for this election."

'Impressive Promises' Louis Heren of the Times reported: "The promises were impressive. The President is still very much the populist with fire in his belly. The welfare state, in theory at least, is not too far distant."

Paris' mass circulation daily France-Soir said the message means "there will not be a great deal of 'butter' for Americans this year." The newspaper's Washington cor-respondent wrote that "the 'Great Society' is marking time."

French business and bank-ing circles met the speech with a sense of relief that the removal of the gold cover would strengthen the dollar.

There was no official French government reaction. It is known that Finance Minister Michel Debre would like to see Congress pass the tax increase bill.

Common Market officials in Brussels, Belgium, quietly ex-pressed satisfaction with the speech, especially the tax boost request. One source called the gold cover removal "a wise move that would give the United States more flex-ibility."

In Italy the pro-Communist daily Paese Sera headlined:

"Vietnam—no peace and more axes." The independent Mo-nento Sera of Rome said "Peace objective in Vietnam and the dollar defended to the limit."

Item in Press The Soviet news agency Tass carried a brief item on Johnson's address without comment.

"He again linked an end to the air war against North Vietnam with a number of conditions which he advanced for the first time in a speech in the Texas city of San Antonio last September," Tass said.

'State of Union' Talk Also Urges Enactment Of 10 Per Cent Surtax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presi-dent Johnson proposes expand-ing the war against crime and big-city problems and lists a "really true" cease-fire as a priority goal in any Vietnam peace talks.

The President, in his Wednes-day night State of the Union message to Congress, again urged enactment of a 10 per cent income tax hike to help pay for new attacks on unemploy-ment and slum housing

Johnson said it would take a $10.4 billion boost in spending to finance on - going programs. He reported the fiscal 1969 budget would reach a record $186 bil-lion—with a built-in $8 billion deficit sure to go higher if the tax boost isn't approved.

Emphatically Clear

Johnson Tells Hanoi To Meet Conditions

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presi-dent Johnson seeks to work out with North Vietnam a "basis for peace talks" which could lead to discussion of a complete cease-fire in the Vietnamese war as the first order of business.

The President proposed top priority for the cease-fire goal in his State of the Union mes-sage to Congress Wednesday night. But at the same time he made it emphatically clear his conditions for halting the bom-bing of North Vietnam in order to open talks must be met.

By contrast, North Vietnam still insists on an unconditional end to the bombing.

Wants Assurances "There is no mystery about the questions which must be answered before the bombing is stopped," Johnson said. He did not specify the questions which in fact are already being put to Hanoi through diplomatic chan-nels. But he is known to be seek-ing assurances that the talks would be prompt and probably productive and that North Viet-nam would not try to pour rein-forcements into the South after the bombing was halted—points he made in his address.

Johnson's formula for the bomb halt-peace talk deal was first put forth in a speech he made at San Antonio, Tex., last September. In paraphrasing it Wednesday night he appeared to ease his requirements in one re-spect and harden them in another.

Take Advantage At San Antonio Johnson said he assumed North Vietnam would not take advantage of the end of bombing to improve the Communist military position, no foundations." Johnson de-clared, "and it is my hope and prayer that they can be—we have the advantage of our restraint as would consult with our allies they have in the past. This na-and with the other side to see if they simply cannot accept any-a complete cessation of hostili-ties—a really true cease-fire—could be made the first order of business."

Officials interpreted that as- "I will report at the earliest possible moment the results of if the North Vietnamese did these explorations."

Will Persevere AP News Analysis Administration officials say pri-vately they hold little hope the present efforts to come to terms with North Vietnam will be suc-cessful. Reports from Hanoi so far through diplomatic channels are said not to be encouraging.

Johnson himself said in his message the enemy continues to place promptly and with reason-able hopes they would be pro-ductive." Officials said there was no way to guarantee in ad-vance that any talks would be productive so the words "rea-sonable hopes" were inserted to make this requirement easier to fulfill.

"If a basis for peace talks can be established on the San Anto-nam's part in combatting crime and to halt mail order murder" through gun-control legislation did the President get enthusiastic reaction from the lawmakers during his 51-minute, nationally tele-vised address.

Many members of Congress did not attend the joint session.

Greater Applause Johnson's renewed demand that North Vietnam respond with military restraint to a halt in U.S. bombing found such war-policy critics as Sens. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., responding with silence amid applause.

Johnson drew greater ap-plause in calling for a $2.1 bil-lion program aimed at creating jobs for 500,000 hard-core job-less through federal-private business cooperation and a $1 billion slum rebuilding pro-gram.

In another major domestic proposal, the President suggest-ed a 10-year program to provide six million new housing units for low and middle-income families.

He prefaced his domestic pro-posals, which included calls for new prenatal care and consum-er protection programs, by say-

"In our cities last summer, we saw how wide is the gulf for some Americans between the premise and the reality of our society."

"We cannot change all of this in a day . . . The issue is not whether we can change this: the issue is whether we will change this."

"I know we can. I believe we will."

Disputed by Laird Johnson's estimate that the Southeast Asia conflict will cost $25 billion in the fiscal year be-ginning July 1 was immediately disputed by Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Confer-ence. Laird said the cost will be nearer $30 billion.

Asking for 100 additional FBI agents, the President predicted the nation will change frustra-

12 Killed in Plane Crash

MINOT, N.D. (AP) — A two-parts of the plane more than taking off for Glasgow, Mont., star general and eight other Air Force officers were among 12 persons killed Wednesday when a huge Air Force tanker plane crashed on takeoff from fog-shrouded Minot Air Force Base.

There was one survivor.

An Air Force investigating team sought the cause of the crash.

The seven crewmen and six passengers were from March Air Force Base near Riverside, Calif.

Maj. Gen. Charles M. Eisenhart, 53, vice commander of the 15th Air Force, died when the plane burst into flames upon im-pact around 9 a.m. An explosion followed, spewing bodies and 1,000 feet in several directions. The death list also included been outfitted for passenger ser-vice and was not carrying extra fuel, officials said.

Officials at the base said the plane apparently was airborne just before the crash. The wreckage was about 20 yards to the right of and about three-quarters of the way down the 15,000-foot long runway.

The base information officer said, "To my knowledge there were no eyewitness. Visibility was too low."

An official at the Minot base said there was no way to know what caused the accident. None of the victims was from Wisconsin.

High Incomes May Not Bring Things We Want

BY SYLVIA PORTER

"I've finally become rich enough," a Ford Motor executive observed not long ago, "so that I can afford to pay somebody else to cut my grass. But now I can't find anybody willing to cut it."

With this quoted lament, an analysis in a recent issue of Fortune magazine zeroes in on one of the "less rewarding" results of the fact that so many Americans are now so affluent. "Increasingly, people find that greater income does not readily purchase some of the amenities they would like."

Fortune points out and it shrewdly worries me the fascinating angles lie not in the dollar totals but in the "why" and "what do they have important economic consequences. It is conceivable that because they can't get what they want, consumers sometimes won't spend as much as they might. The U.S. is now climbing from the world's first mass high income market to the distinct force now, for instance, world's first mass high income market, says Lawrence A. May-

Fortune's wealth of statistics will dazzle the student but to have in common is enough income to exercise broad options in disposing of their money. That leads to "what does it mean?"

Almost surely it will mean the obvious changes in ways of spending more on clothing, eating out, travel, alcoholic beverages, recreation, education; smaller shares on food at home, autos, housing except for outlays for household help, cleaning, etc.

It also may mean the not-so-obvious: a higher rate of saving for such "new" purposes as letting the husband take a sabbatical from work or change jobs more often.

It could mean too heightened tensions between income classes because of the painful contrast between the family with an after-tax income of over $10,000 and that of a family with an after-tax income of under $5,000.

And it could mean that the lament of the Ford executive will be heard ever more often in this land of the prosperous masses. Can it be that for the affluent, Fortune is foretelling the era of frustration?

Pretty Daughters of Celebrities Aid Customers in L.A. Boutique

By LINDA DEUTSCH
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — When a lady tries on shoes at the Shop for Pappagallo in Beverly Hills, the girl who slips the slipper on her foot is likely to be the daughter of a movie star, the child of a film studio executive or a budding starlet herself.

These pretty salesgirls, tripping about the shop in their micro-mini smocks, are among the little extras that make Pappagallo a boutique with a difference.

Women browsers—and sometimes men too—often stop at the white-fronted French chalet style building just to look at the interior decor. With its Harlow style orange velvet couches, fur throw rugs and antique armoires, it's something to see.

One of the main attractions

Student-Faculty Square Dancing Group Organized

A square dancing club for students and faculty of the two Appleton public high schools has been organized and will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesdays at AHS-West.

A knowledge of square dancing is not necessary. There will be squares for beginners which will concentrate on the fundamentals.

John Kading, physical education department, is the caller.

is the eight-sided mirrored dressing room in which a miniskirted maiden can see her own image reflected into infinity.

"Tony Curtis came in here one day with his wife," recalls manager William Fischler. "He went into the mirrored dressing room and closed the door and we didn't see him again for an hour. We thought he had left, but then we opened the door and he was still in there looking at all those mirrors."

Girls — Big Attraction
But the biggest attraction, Fischler admits, are the girls.

Blonde-haired Francesca Hilton, daughter of Zsa Zsa Gabor and Conrad Hilton, works at the shop on the days when she is not auditioning for television parts. The 19-year-old Francesca wants to be an actress.

Dark-haired, statuesque Jennie Arness, daughter of "Gunsmoke's" James Arness, is a favorite model for Pappagallo advertisements. The front windows are filled with photographs of her posing on the shop's white velvet sofa made from an old Victorian bathtub.

Also taking turns working whenever they're free are Wendy Stark, daughter of producer Ray Stark and the granddaughter of comedienne Fanny Brice; Patty Findlater, 20, daughter of Jack Findlater, executive vice president of Universal Studios; Melantha Tatum, 21, daughter of Don Tatum, vice president of Walt Disney Studios; Edie Baskin, of the Baskin-Robbins ice cream family; Jan Hirsch, 20-year-old daughter of dog food company owner Clement Hirsch, and Patti Chandler, 23, a starlet who works at the shop when she's not appearing on television shows.

Melantha says the job at Pappagallo is just "something to keep me busy," but others, like Patti Chandler, took the job because of the attractive working hours.

Model Keeps Busy
Most girls put in two or three days a week, and can alter their schedules a day in advance. Patty Findlater, a professional model, says this is perfect for her since modeling jobs are sporadic, and she likes to keep busy.

The girls, who say they heard about the shop from friends who worked there, admit they spend most of their salaries on dresses, shoes and boutique items that they're supposed to be selling. The shop specializes in its own brand of shoes priced at $14 for flats and $20 for heels. There are also kooky, but not kookie, dresses and shifts designed by Jean Bandler, in a price range of $35 to over $100 for evening gowns.

The owners say the name "Pappagallo" means a man-about-town in Italian, and although the shop is mainly a haven for females, it has one young male employee, James Anderson, a 23-year-old green-eyed Texan trying to break into commercial films, serves coffee to the lady customers. He says the job is "very good exposure," but admits the main attraction is all the girls.

"I love it," says Jim, looking around at a virtual harem of femininity. "I'd work here for nothing!"

The Post-Crescent A 15

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

"REBOLIND MARRIAGES ARE RISKY! TRUE OR FALSE?"

True. If a jilted girl, for example, rushes out and marries the first man who'll have her, the marriage has little chance. Sometimes, of course, a really nice boy, whom she has known for some time, has wanted to marry her all along. In this case, it may turn out well. But it's much safer to make sure you're marrying a husband or wife and not merely a slave for hurt pride.

Should a father try to be a pal to his children?

Yes — No —
Yes, if he's that kind of person. No, if he acts like a pal cent.

Create Relaxed Atmosphere for Dining

BY CAROL HANSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Sitting down to a meal in an atmosphere that prompts warm, friendly conversation is often a luxury in these hectic days of the '60s. Because of the endless procession of things to be done, many families find relaxing at a meal together a problem, and often settle for food on the run.

A noticeable trend on the part of home builders, however, is to include a dining room or, at the very least, a dining ell in a new home. Whatever situation faces the homemaker, an atmosphere for pleasant conversation and relaxed entertaining is a major concern.

Many Choices

A wide choice of furniture periods and styles are available. A charming atmosphere can be created with one of the familiar old periods. However, manufacturers have run the gamut with sturdy, yet beautiful tables and chairs in every period, that lend themselves for use in all areas of the home.

Many have found the family room an ideal spot for casual dining as well as for entertaining and serving snacks. The table in this room, since it will probably serve a multitude of purposes, should be attractive yet well-built and mar-proof.

Buffets or hutches, bookshelves and serving carts might also be part of a dining setting in a home. One of the newest suggestions is the curio table which could hold china, pewter or a hobby collection.

An area rug would emphasize a particularly lovely table. Accessorizing a room, even the simplest, can help create a relaxed atmosphere.

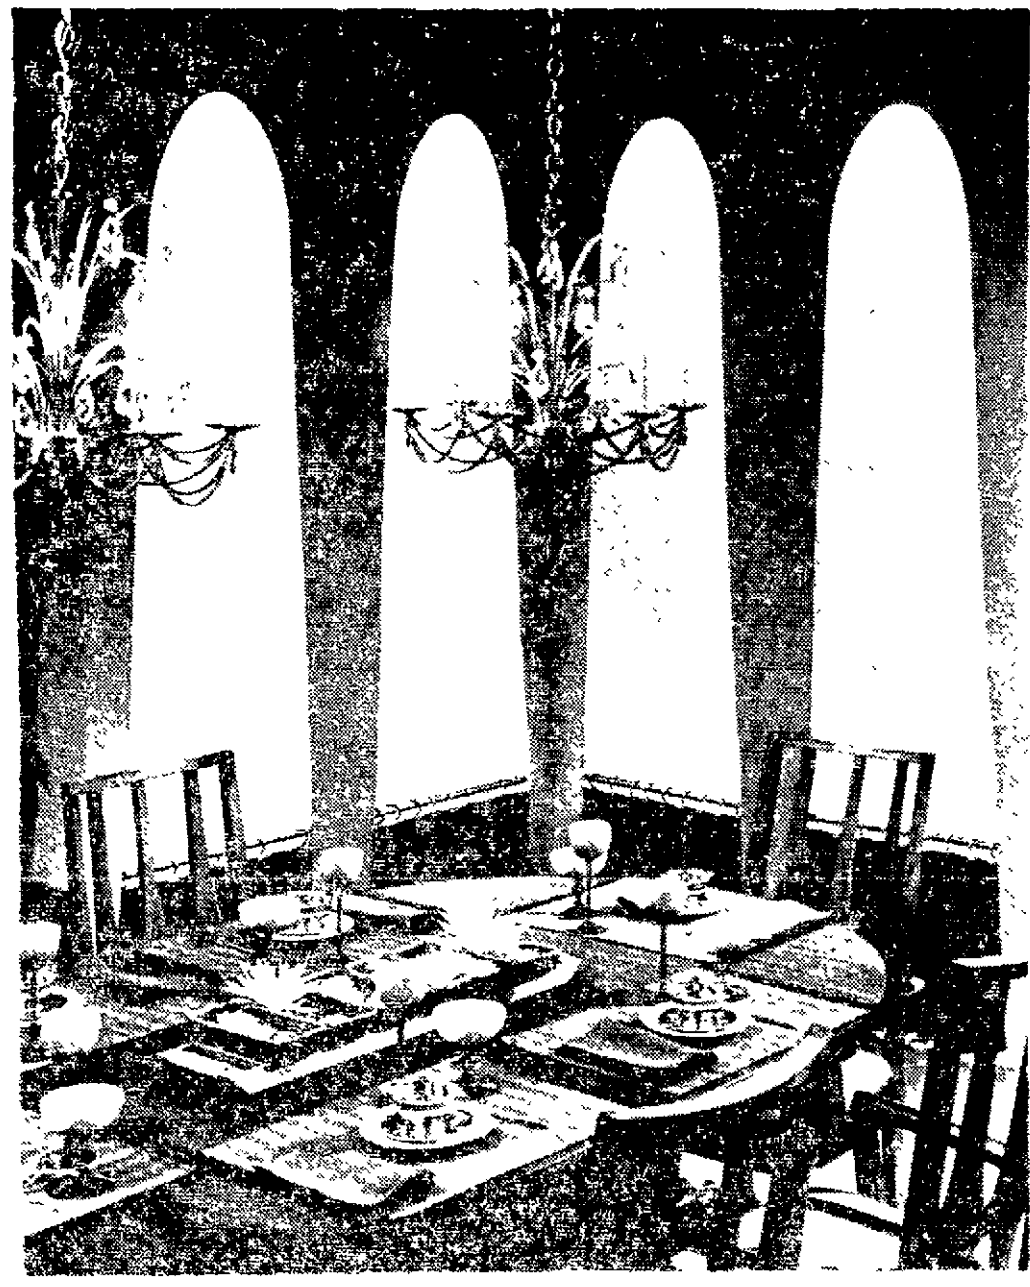

Today's young matrons are entertaining on a much broader scale than their mothers did. A party often includes a meal for several couples. There is little doubt a sit-down dinner or a casual buffet can be enhanced by a furniture choice that fills a homemaker's individual needs.

An Atmosphere of Country living prevails, above, in this town house dining room. Rugged, yet charming and graceful, this Colonial English furniture is part of a new collection. Below, a rugged, rustic English countryside breakfast room is tastefully translated through the use of sturdy solid oak. The serving counter is finished with a composition top that is completely impervious to heat.

Mrs. Johnson Approves President's Talk to Nation

By FRANCES LEWINE — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson called her husband's fifth State of the Union message "a good, strong tested many times this past Mabel McClanahan, Appleton, speech" and added a few plugs year—and always equal to the national president of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., who left for Washington, D.C. Wednesday morning. Mrs. Johnson said she particularly liked the windup of the tenton on another phase of her ing. Wednesday night speech be- husband's program—the battle. strength". The President's final has invited 50 women to discuss and Mrs. Charles Robb, Mrs. Johnson received a standing ovation when she took a front-row seat in the executive gallery of the House. She wore a bright red suit.

The First Lady had four special guests with her—an army medic who won the Medal of Honor for heroism in a vicious Vietnam battle and one member each from the Teacher Corps, Job Corps and VISTA, major antipoverty and education programs the President has been pushing.

The Medal of Honor winner—Spec. 6 Lawrence Joel of Winston-Salem, N.C., said of getting a front-row gallery seat for the address: "I really enjoyed it."

Appearing equally excited about the invitation were Susan Helmuth of Massapequa, N.Y., a Teacher Corps in Washington, D.C., elementary schools; Paul Millner, 17, president of the Student Council at the Capital Job Corps Center here and Sarabeth Walker, 24, of Bartlesville, Okla., a VISTA volunteer who works in Head Start programs with disadvantaged Washington youngsters.

Darboy Woman Describes '1st 90 Years'

BY MRS. ROBERT MEULEMANS

Post-Crescent Correspondent

DARBOY — When you've raised 19 children, run a farm, worked 79 years and outlived two husbands, you're sure to have a story to tell about the old versus the new, and what it's like to have lived 90 years.

Mrs. John Hopfensperger, route 4, Appleton, who celebrated her 90th birthday last week, is still enjoying life, even though because of her age, she has had to "slow down somewhat."

She still enjoys a good card game with her club, with whom she has played for the past 10 years, but she readily admits that it's television that fills most of her days.

Now Shares Home

Mrs. Hopfensperger came to the home she now shares with a son and his family as a 22-year-old woman. She already had been working since age 11 as a hired girl, sometimes farm hand and had gone home for a rest.

The family decided she should stay home and let her younger sister "work out." But when John Hopfensperger came to Nellie Van Handel's father's farm to buy cattle, he apparently liked what he saw. He hired her to work for him and to care for the nine children his first wife had left with him when she died in childbirth.

It wasn't long after Nellie joined the household that she and John were married, in April, 1900. This marriage added 10 children to the family.

The years were busy and Nellie had her hands full raising two families. In addition to the homestead land, located one-half mile east of Darboy on County Highway KK, the Hopfenspergers owned an 80-acre piece on State Highway 55, south of KK.

Play in Cabin

Nellie used to take her younger children over to the other land where there was an orchard. She picked whatever was in season while the little ones played. There was a log cabin on the land and as the boys grew, they would stay overnight in it. Cows were kept there, too, and milking was done right in the field.

Only one step-daughter remains living, Mrs. Earl Coffey, Milwaukee. Eight of Nellie's children are still living: Joseph, Richard, Reynold and Earl, all of route 4, Appleton, Elmer, route 3, Kaukauna, Mrs. Otto Lemke and Mrs. Robert Lehrer, Neenah, and Mrs. Alois Thiel, route 1, Menasha. Mrs. Hopfensperger has 41 grandchildren, 54 great-grandchildren and 3 great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Hopfensperger marvels most about modern-day cars. "Wonderful! You people can go wherever or whenever you please in them, even in 20 degrees below zero weather." She recalls her younger days, before her marriage, when just going to church at St. John Catholic Church, Little Chute, required bundling up and riding in a cutter.

There was a wood-burning stove in the church and the parishioners would hover as near as they could to keep warm—"and there was always the fear that they would fire up too much and start a blaze." Nellie's church-going was curtailed after her marriage. Everyone who was old enough to go went, but Nellie usually stayed home "with the babies." She socialized very little "because with that brood, when you finished dressing the last, the first ones already were dirty."

Continues Farming

John Hopfensperger died of a heart attack in 1932. Nellie continued to farm with her boys. As the children grew, they married and left the homestead. When Earl married, he brought his 20-year-old bride home. In the 27 years that followed, Earl's wife can't remember ever having a serious argument with her mother-in-law. Each woman did the work she wanted to do and they have "gotten along fine."

Up until 10 years ago, Nellie never had been inside a hospital. All of her children were born at home. Ten years ago she had pneumonia. Two years ago she broke one hip and a year later, the other hip. During her convalescence, she spent some time in a nursing home but was "glad to get home again." Since then she hasn't gone far from home except for an occasional visit to church.

Faye Dunaway Claims Verbal Contract Release

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Faye Dunaway claims in a State Supreme Court affidavit that producer-director Otto Preminger verbally released her from a contract with Sigma Productions of Los Angeles, of which he is president.

The actress who won fame in the movie "Bonnie and Clyde," said in her affidavit that disagreements with Preminger "basic to our relationship" were encountered during the filming of "Hurry Sundown."

Justice William C. Hecht reserved decision Tuesday on Sigma's motion to bar Miss Dunaway from working for another film company until she fulfills the five-film 1966 Sigma agreement.

Gideon Caslman, the actress' lawyer said the salaries ranging from $2,500 to $8,000 a week in the Sigma contract were "abysmally below what she could command in the market place today."

Being Ones Own Banker Can Save Tidy Sum Over Period

BY MARY FEELEY
Dear Miss Feeley: My husband plans on purchasing a new automobile now. We have enough money to pay cash, with an emergency amount left over, in our savings account. Is it cheaper to do that, thus saving all carrying charges, and replenish our savings account each month with 1-36th of the amount — or do we earn more by leaving the money in the bank to earn interest at the rate of 5 per cent compounded quarterly? The price of the auto will not be more than $3,700. Mrs. R.C.R., Rialto, Calif.

book loan. If you could get it at, say, a cost of $2.88 for each $100, discounted in advance, you'd pay $319.68 in interest (assuming $3,700) during the three year period. At the same time your money in savings would be earning interest at 5 per cent compounded quarterly, amounting in three years to $584. Subtracting the interest charges on the loan ($319.68) from what your money continues to earn ($584), you'd come out with approximately $275 in interest. Of course, you would not have access to this cash in case of need, since you would have put up your passbook as collateral.

Now let's say you decide to take the cash out of savings, and make your own financial arrangement with yourself to replace it over a period of three years. An auto loan of $3,700 at 6 per cent annual add-on rate for three years would cost you $121.28 per month, which would include the interest charges of $666. So, using your self-disciplined method of repaying yourself by depositing this payment at the first of each month (assuming method of paying interest used by the bank is computed from first of the month following a deposit), you'll end up having repaid $4,366, and with accumulated interest, the account will add up to approximately $4,687.

Your money left in the bank earning 5 per cent compounded quarterly would have totaled $4,294 during the three-year period. So you would gain approximately $393 by financing these arrangements yourself, and repaying on the same basis as a commercial loan.

To see the picture realistically, keep in mind that the savings you withdraw should be put to work. By repaying your own funds as you would repay a commercial loan, you do yourself a favor.

(You can get Mary Feeley's booklet, "Make Every Dollar Count" by sending $1 to her in care of The Post-Crescent.)

DAR President Plans Vietnam Inspection Trip

HONOLULU (AP) — Mrs. William Henry Sullivan Jr., president general of the national society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, plans to leave for South Vietnam Jan. 23 for a three-day inspection trip. "I want to get first hand information on the war," Mrs. Sullivan said Tuesday. "Then I can speak with authority on the subject."

She said she was invited by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam. Mrs. Sullivan said another purpose of her trip is to bolster morale of the fighting men.

Mrs. Sullivan said she plans to visit military hospitals and talk with servicemen wounded in the fighting.

She is to report on her trip to a DAR board meeting in Washington, D.C., Feb. 2.

Rudolf Serkin to Become Music Institute Director

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — World-famous concert pianist Rudolf Serkin will become director of the Curtis Institute of Music next fall.

Serkin, 65, was selected as Zimbalist's successor at a meeting of the Curtis board of directors last week. His appointment was announced Tuesday.

Serkin has headed the institute's piano department since 1956.

He now is on a year's sabbatical to allow him to play concerts and will assume the post next September.

Guatemalan Terrorists Kill Rich Landowner

Reds Boast Murder of 2 Americans

GUATEMALA (AP) — Defying a sweeping police roundup to check terrorism in Guatemala, gunmen killed a wealthy landowner Wednesday, one day after the slaying of two U.S. military officers.

Alfonso Alejos de la Cerda, 77, was machine-gunned in a suburb of the capital, and his driver was wounded. He was an uncle of Roberto Alejos, a presidential candidate in 1962, and of Carlos Alejos, a former ambassador to Washington.

Havana Radio, reporting the assassination, said another nephew "gave his farm for the training on Cuban counterrevolutionaries and mercenaries for the Bay of Pigs invasion in 1961."

U.S. Victims

Alejos was shot a day after assassins in a speeding car machine-gunned U.S. Army Col. John D. Webber Jr., 47, Houston, Tex., head of the U.S. military advisory group in Guatemala, and Lt. Cmdr. Ernest A. Munro, 40, Rockland, Maine, head of the U.S. naval section.

The Rebel Armed Forces, a Castroite group known as FAR, said it assassinated the Americans in retaliation for leftist guerrillas killed by Guatemalan army groups trained by the U.S. military mission.

Police made a large number of arrests as they searched for the assassins of the two U.S. officers and other victims of the terrorists.

Military police combed through homes and offices and set up roadblocks. Entire blocks were sealed off by police armed with machine guns. Cars were stopped at checkpoints and searched for arms.

Marine Sgt. Harry L. Greene, 41, of Omaha, Neb., was wounded with two U.S. officers and was reported in fair condition. Army Sgt. Maj. John R. Forster, 42, of Seattle, Wash., was struck in the arm by shattered glass and was released Tuesday after treatment.

The government put more guards on the U.S. Embassy and other American installations and sent regrets to Washington.

Webber and Munro were the first U.S. victims of a wave of rightist and leftist terrorism that has taken more than 1,000 lives in the last year and a half. Two Guatemalans were assassinated Tuesday, and one terrorist was killed.

In Washington, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said about 5,000 U.S. citizens live in Guatemala and several hundred U.S. tourists are usually in the country.

All Precautions
"All possible precautions are being taken by our own people," he said.

Covey T. Oliver, U.S. assistant secretary of state, arrived Wednesday night on a swing through Central America. Foreign Minister Emilio Arenales canceled a reception in his honor because of the deaths of the two American officers.

Webber's body was flown to the United States for burial in Arlington National Cemetery, and Munro's remains was to be flown to Miami today.

Political strife in Guatemala has taken 28 lives this month alone. Among them was Rogelia Cruz Martinez, who won the Miss Guatemala beauty contest in 1950, and Javier Santana, head of the extreme-right White Hand organization, on Wednesday denied a charge by the chief of the secret police that the militant rightists killed Miss Cruz. However, Santana called the police chief a gangster and Miss Cruz a "guerrilla fighter."

Enterprise Nearing

50,000 Protest Carrier in Japan

SASEBO, Japan (AP) — Leftists demonstrated in Sasebo and Tokyo today against the visit of the nuclear-powered U.S. aircraft carrier Enterprise as the 75,000-ton giant neared the U.S. Navy base in this south Japanese port.

Authorities said 120 extreme leftist students were arrested in two clashes with riot police. But the biggest demonstration was an orderly Communist-Socialist gathering of an estimated 50,000 persons at a Sasebo ball park. The demonstrators paraded through the streets.

Some 700 students attacked a police barricade in front of the main entrance to the Sasebo naval base, following a similar attack Wednesday. But riot police drove them off easily with tear gas and high-powered jets of water from firetrucks.

42 Arrests

Police said three policemen and eight students were injured and another 200 persons were treated at a hospital for tear gas irritation. Officers arrested 15 students, increasing of 42 the number taken into custody in Sasebo in two days.

Another clash broke out in Tokyo when about 300 students, marching in protest toward the prime minister's official residence and the U.S. Embassy, began throwing stones and milk bottles at some of the 700 riot police along the way. Both students and police wore steel helmets.

Police said they arrested 105 students.

About 10,000 labor unionists also marched to the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo in a Communist-sponsored protest demonstration, but they were orderly.

Due Friday

The Enterprise, en route to join the air war against North Vietnam, and accompanied by the nuclear-powered frigate Truxton, was due in Sasebo Friday. The U.S. Embassy said the carrier and her crew of 4,300 would stay for about five days.

The Enterprise and the Truxton are the first nuclear-powered surface warships to visit Japan, although American nuclear submarines have been visiting Japanese ports since 1964. The Socialists and the Communists charged the visit threatens Japan with involvement in the war.

Leftists have been assembling in Sasebo since last week, and almost all of the demonstrators are from other parts of the country. Most of the city's 250,000 population welcome all visiting American ships and the business they bring.

U.S. sailors walked the streets as usual today unmolested.

The leftists have threatened to make "kamikaze" charges to break into the naval base after the carrier's arrival. Some 800 radical students battled police outside the base Wednesday, and 135 persons were injured. U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson, Gen. Seth McKee, commander of U.S. forces in Japan, and 20 Japanese officials flew out to the carrier today. Some of the planes from the Enterprise landed at Atsugi Naval Air Station outside Tokyo, a procedure which the Navy said was normal for carriers visiting Japan.

Mysterious Death Strikes Second Sister

SANTA MARIA, Calif. (AP) — Five years apart, two sisters died mysteriously in the same sudden way: They looked around horrified, screamed piercingly for 10 seconds, then stopped breathing.

Police said Army Staff Sgt. Robert Rush told them Wednesday that his wife Patricia, 23, woke him about 6 a.m. screamed and collapsed.

Resuscitation attempts failed. Officials waited today for autopsy results.

Mrs. Rush's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Stephens of near San Luis Obispo, told newsmen that in 1963 their daughter Beverly, 17, emerged from a swimming pool and died in the same way. An autopsy failed to disclose a cause of death.

The Stephens have two other daughters, Barbara, 17, and Diana, 11.

"Naturally," said Stephens, "we are very concerned and anxious about my other daughters."

Evangelists Replace The Pink Pussy Cat

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A night spot called the Pink Pussy Cat will give way to the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.

A subsidiary of the association headed by the Baptist Evangelist has bought the building where the club is located. George M. Wilson, executive vice president, said more space is needed to publish a monthly magazine, Decision, which he said has a circulation of 3.5 million.

Amount of money involved in the deal was not announced.

The Daughter of Alfonso Alejos de la Cerda, Olga Alejos de Miron, is comforted by her husband as she weeps over the bullet-riddled auto in which her father was slain Wednesday by Guatemalan terrorists. War Commitment Peak Thought Near WASHINGTON (AP) — Ad-ministration officials say the of the $77.2 billion defense budget Johnson will send to Congress within the next couple of weeks.

While the fiscal 1969 military budget will be up $2.9 billion over 1968, it still will fall about $11 billion short of the World War II peak.

The optimistic forecast of a leveling off in Vietnam came as officials discussed Johnson's State of the Union message to the House and Senate Wednesday night.

'End in View'

That forecast is in tune with Gen. William C. Westmoreland's confident statement while in Washington about two months ago that "we have reached an important point when the end begins to come into view."

The Pentagon had hoped to hold the U.S. troop commitment to about 480,000 men by next June 30. But last summer, Johnson yielded to Westmoreland's request for reinforcements. The Vietnam manpower ceiling was raised by about 45,000 men.

All told, Vietnam war costs

Leader of Attack on Civilians Killed in Vengeance Ambush

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. paratroopers reported killing 119 Communist soldiers at a cost of seven Americans killed and 29 wounded.

A U.S. communique termed the Viet Cong troops' "vengeance" on the Dong Hai district headquarters which attacked the district town of Tan Uyen in the regional headquarters early morning hours of 6 January.

Cubans Reveal Downing of Ex-Paratrooper

American Accused Of Trying Infiltration By Dec. 29 Flight

HAVANA (AP) — The government announced today it had shot down and captured an ex-paratrooper from the United States after he dropped a package with a rifle while flying his small plane over Cuba Dec. 29.

The Interior Ministry announcement identified the pilot as Everett Jackson, 27, of Los Angeles. The ministry said his single-engine Taylorcraft was hit by anti-aircraft fire over the central Cuban city of Rancho Veloz. The plane fell on Falcon's Key on the north coast in the province of Las Villas.

The announcement did not say what has happened to Jackson since his capture or if he was injured when his plane was downed.

The Interior Ministry described Jackson's motive as "to infiltrate national territory."

The announcement was published on the first page of the Communist Party newspaper Granma and in the semiofficial newspaper El Mundo, but without the customary headline splash.

There was no indication of why the government delayed so long in making the announcement. The news was first broken by Havana radio.

Jackson had dropped a parachute package containing a carbine rifle, 200 bullets, maps, cameras with telephoto lenses and a set of binoculars, the broadcast said.

The Coast Guard in Miami said it had no report of a missing plane matching the description given of Jackson's plane. The Federal Aviation Administration in Miami said its reports on missing aircraft were not available.

forces reported killing 119 Communist soldiers at a cost of seven Americans killed and 29 wounded.

A U.S. communique termed the Viet Cong troops' "vengeance" on the Dong Hai district headquarters which attacked the district town of Tan Uyen in the regional headquarters early morning hours of 6 January.

An ambush squad from the 187th Airborne Infantry, which arrived in South Vietnam last month, caught Lam Hiep, 28-year-old commander of the Dong Hai Regiment's D800 Battalion and two other Viet Cong on a trail 25 miles north of Saigon, a U.S. spokesman said.

The paratroopers killed Hiep and another Viet Cong, but the third man apparently escaped. In an exchange of fire, one American was killed and one wounded.

A pouch full of documents, a Russian pistol, a map and a compass were found on Hiep's body. The documents disclosed his identity and showed he had commanded the battalion since April 1966 at least.

Vict Cong Report
One letter to Hiep, believed to have come from the executive officer of the Dong Hai Regiment, said 23 Viet Cong were killed and 18 wounded in the attack on Tan Uyen. The Viet wounded.

Fifteen miles to the north the ambush site, two other paratrooper units were acci-tally hit by two rounds of 105mm artillery fire by American battery. Two paratroopers were killed and the Viet wounded.

West led three top hearts, and South ruffed the third. Declarer led a trump to dummy's king and returned a trump to try a finesse with the jack, reasoning that West's unusual length in hearts tended to make him short in spades.

It was a reasonable idea, but not good enough. West won with the queen of spades and got out safely with a club. South eventually went down when he had to lose a diamond trick.

No Hurry
There was no reason for South to draw trumps in such a hurry. After ruffing the third heart South should lead out two top clubs and the ace of diamonds. When these get by, there is clear sailing ahead.

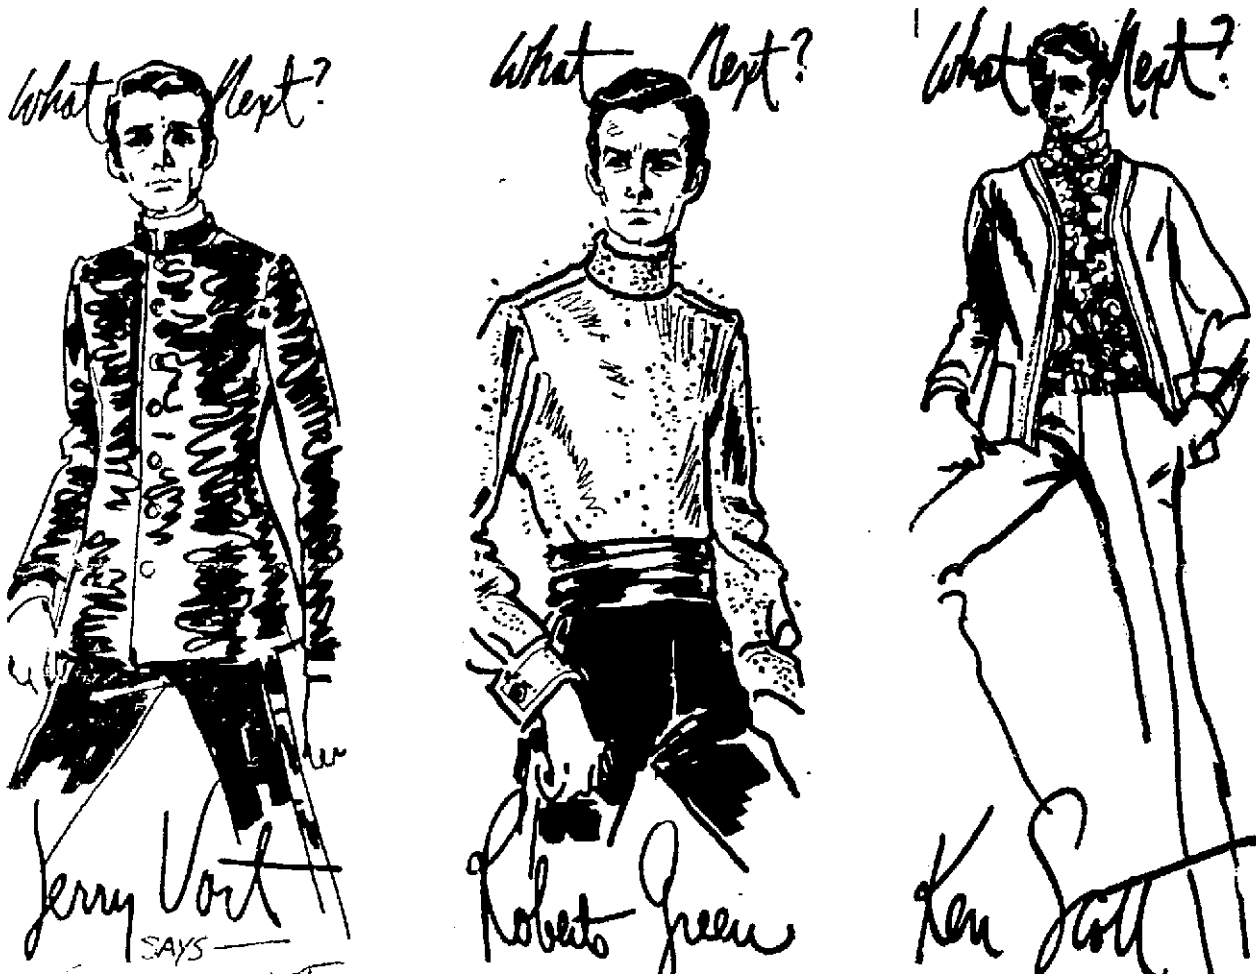

South cashes the third high club, ready to overruff in dummy if West can ruff. Declarer next leads a low diamond, ready to play low from dummy if West ruffs. Actually, West follows suit to each of these plays.

After taking dummy's king of diamonds, declarer cashes the king of spades and returns a low spade from dummy. South can now afford to finesse with the jack of spades, knowing that he will make his contract whether the finesse wins or loses.

If the spade finesse won, South would of course be home. When it loses, West is left with only hearts in his hand. He must lead a heart, and dummy ruffs while South discards his losing diamond.

It isn't wrong to take a losing finesse if you pick the right time for it.

Lovelier You

Brush Oily Hair

A teen Lovely asks: Why is it, strokes, all the oil comes out of when you brush your hair 100 strokes a day? I have been taught to brush 100 strokes a day. But I think this makes an oily condition worse.

The Answer: Brushing may somewhat increase the flow of oil from the scalp. This is not a bad thing for the hair's health. It is a sign that the circulation of the blood has been stimulated. And first-rate circulation helps to normalize oily secretions.

What really makes the hair seem so sodden after brushing is the dispersion of oil already on the scalp. And that is the main reason for those 100 strokes. Your brush lifts and distributes the oil before it has a chance to clog pores and trigger dandruff or other blemish.

Along with 100 strokes of the brush a day, oily hair needs 100 shampoos a year. At least two per week! Frequent shampoos are a prime conditioner and of course keep the hair looking presentable. Just be sure to use a shampoo product, labelled for oily hair.

In addition try these specials:
1. Follow a shampoo with a vinegar rinse (½ cup white vinegar to qt. warm water). 2. scalp breathe.

Your Problems

Old Electricity Fable Dupes
Ann; Bulb Power Use Constant

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You've been led astray. I refer to Ol' Scottie's letter, advising people to get their money's worth by leaving the electric light burning for 100 minutes since (according to him) the energy expended to turn the light on is spent the moment the light goes on.

That old fable has been floating around ever since Edison invented the carbon filament lamp.

A simple experiment can prove that switching a light does not consume extra energy. Turn off all the lights and appliances and watch the aluminum disc on your electric meter. This is what determines the cost of the electricity you use. The disc will move very slowly due to power consumed by items permanently attached, such as electric clocks, making perhaps one or two revolutions per minute. Then turn a 100-watt bulb on and off several times. You'll note that the power consumed is quite constant during the time the bulb is on. If Ol' Scottie was right, the disc would spin like a top. — Old E. E. of Libertyville

Dear Ol' E. E.: That's no 100-watt bulb — that's my face! You are right. I was duped. And now a word to Ol' Scottie: Why don't you make like Ben Franklin, Buster? Go fly a kite.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been going with Herbie for three years. We set the wedding date twice, but both times the wedding had to be postponed because Herbie became severely ill. In case you think he was faking me out, you are wrong. The doctor assured me that Herbie was sick with genuine gastrointestinal attacks both times.

This past year, however, whenever I have asked him to set a date, he has said the following: (1) The money he saved to get married went for tonsil operations for his two nephews. (2) He is afraid I will get pregnant right away and he doesn't know if he can stand The Difference." by Ann Landers. (3) He has a couple of warts on his back and he must have them removed before we get married. The doctor who was going to remove the warts went to Europe for three months.

I would like to have a word with Herbie. What should I say? — Patience Wearing Thin
Dear Patience: Say "Good-bye."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife and I recently opened a small snack shop near the high school. Most of our teen-age customers are well-mannered but, unfortunately, some of the kids are so wild and destructive that we shudder whenever they come in. They hit each other over the head with plates, squirt catsup and mustard on the walls, tear up all the paper napkins, set fire to the toothpicks and walk off with salt and pepper shakers, sugar bowls — everything they can lay their hands on.

Yesterday I told the trouble-makers to behave or we would not let them in anymore. They said a restaurant is a public place and we can't keep them out so long as they have money to pay. Is this true? How can we protect our investment? — Momma and Papa

Dear M and P: A restaurant or any other business has every right to refuse to admit characters who misbehave. Furthermore, you can ask them to leave if they get out of hand and if they refuse, you can call the police.

State Delegates Pessimistic on LBJ Proposals

All Polled Indicate
State of the Union
Message Inadequate

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Reactions to President Johnson's State of the Union message delivered to the Congress Wednesday night generally followed party lines among members of the Wisconsin congressional delegation, although no one who was polled expressed any desire to follow the President's recommendation on increased taxation.

Sen. William Proxmire, who is chairman of the financial institutions subcommittee of the Senate Banking Committee, expressed dissatisfaction with the President's failure to recommend sharp reductions in public works and space programs and yet "Mr. Johnson continues to press for an increase in taxes which would be a serious economic mistake," he said. "Such a tax increase as recommended by the President would slow down necessary economic growth," Proxmire commented. "In general the speech was excellent and moderate in limiting our fiscal commitments," he said.

"Cautious and Restrained"
Sen. Gaylord Nelson viewed the message as "cautious and unusually restrained." Nelson said he was sure the President would have liked to do more for his country than he requested Wednesday night. He pointed out that the President's hopes for the future had to be streamlined to fit a "tense economic and political situation."

He deplored the high cost of the war in Vietnam, saying, "Until we resolve the war through a negotiated settlement we cannot meet critical problems at home and abroad."
Eighth District Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay, thought the "President is still trying to have things both ways."
"Mr. Johnson wants to be the great advocate of new programs, yet he wants to blame someone else for the inflation his domestic spending increase during wartime has created," he commented.

Barmaids Due Next Week In Appleton

Within five days women bartenders will be legal in Appleton.

However, so-called B-girls will be outlawed.

The city council put the finishing touches to a legislative package Wednesday night dealing with female employees in taverns.

Lowering of the ban on women bartenders and prohibiting women employees from fraternizing with or soliciting drinks from patrons becomes effective with publishing of the revised ordinance later this week or early next.

Actually, the action of the city's 20 aldermen was routine with the women bartender issue, having been decided in previously heated council sessions.

Up to now, women could perform bartending chores only if a licensed male operator was on the premises, and this merely represented a long-standing city policy dating back 25 years.

Another community official became a member of the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) at a Wednesday meeting which also saw COG members vote to undertake a parochial-public school trend study in the Fox Cities.

Oshkosh's COG representative William Manske, Oshkosh county clerk, presented COG Chairman Laurel Heaney with a check for $3,175 to cover the city's first quarterly assessment as the 14th member of the regional planning group.

Heaney, in welcoming Oshkosh to the group, said the event "will have a beneficial impact and pay dividends to the citizens of Oshkosh for many years to come."

Oshkosh and the nine other member communities represented also voted to proceed with a study of Fox Cities parochial - public school trends.

Parochial Schools
Eugene Franchett, COG executive director, said the initial contact with local and state parochial school officials indicated there is "enough of a problem to warrant a study on what are the causes and what

Candidate Files For Esler's Post

Leslie Gebheim, 1719 N. Alvin St., who is seeking to unseat Outagamie County Board chairman Sylvester Esler, has filed nomination papers with the county clerk's office.

Gebheim, a long-time employee of Kimberly Clark, is running for the county board seat in Appleton's District 19. Esler has taken out nomination papers for District 19, but has not yet filed present law with qualifications.

Suggested restrictions were the signs not exceed five square feet; that they not be placed on private property less than 10-feet from public street right-of-way; they not be artificially lighted; and not be erected more than 30 days before the election and have to be removed three days after.

Signs Commonplace
Bethke said signs on lawns during election campaign "have been commonplace in Appleton over the years and have never been a big problem."

Ald. Orville Strutz (17th) did not share Bethke's longing to transform Appleton neighborhoods into a "sign city" during election campaigns.

"I think present controls are good and we should keep them," Strutz opined.

Revising the code in time for the upcoming election has one major hurdle yet — a public hearing at which the public can present its case.

City Approves Teamsters for 2 Departments

Union to Represent Parking Meter and Electrical Workers

Teamsters Local 563 strengthened its bargaining power in Appleton city departments Wednesday night when the city council recognized it as bargaining representative for employees in two work units.

In the future, the electrical and parking meter departments will have the union negotiate for wages, hours and working conditions.

The Teamsters also represent the bulk of the city's department of public works employees and the park department personnel.

Without discussion, the council concurred in the recommendation made Tuesday afternoon by the board of public works that the Teamsters be recognized — having been the only union to present the city with signed membership cards.

The air on the somewhat touchy recognition issue had been cleared Tuesday night at the board meeting which had city officials originally rejecting the suggestion of Mayor George Buckley that Local 563 be recognized, and indicating that a representation election be held.

But later in the meeting Robert Schlieve, secretary-treasurer of Local 563, appeared and explained the union had signed membership cards from all employees in the work units.

"We did not have a majority — it was unanimous," Schlieve said, adding the signatures were checked for verification by appropriate city officials.

Burden on City
"Under the circumstances I would say the burden is on the city to recognize our group," Schlieve said, pointing out that no other union objected at the time the cards were turned over to the mayor's office.

Schlieve said it was common procedure to serve notice and present cards to the executive officer — the mayor.

Schlieve said if the board did not recognize the union "in good faith and prescribed by the Labor Act" he would file an immediate unfair labor charge against the City of Appleton.

However, Schlieve said it

Youth From State Boys School Still at Large

A 17-year-old state boys' school inmate who fled while on a plant tour with 25 other inmates May 16, still has not been apprehended.

The youth was sent to the State School for Boys at Wales last February after taking about $4,600 worth of jewelry from the home of Eugene Hopfensperger, 534 N. Garfield Place, Appleton.

The jewelry was recovered shortly after it was reported missing and two men were charged with receiving and concealing the stolen watches and rings, but were found innocent.

The youth was part of a boys' school group that was touring Miller Electric Manufacturing Co. May 16 when he disappeared. Authorities received reports from citizens that saw the youth in various parts of the county shortly after he fled from custody, but have had no recent reports of his whereabouts.

The boy is described as being five feet, six inches tall and weighing about 130 pounds.

Hierarchy Sympathetic Priests Supported In Plea for Voice In Naming Bishop

GREEN BAY — The request of the Priests Association of the Green Bay Diocese for an advisory role in the selection of a new bishop has received sympathetic response from two members of the American hierarchy.

Both responses were read at the Jan. 11 meeting of the 20-man elected board which represents 250 of the 319 priests in the diocese.

The Most Rev. John Dear-den, archbishop of Detroit, elected head of the American Conference of Catholic Bishops, complimented the Green Bay priests on the spirit in which their proposal was made.

The Most Rev. William E. Cousins, archbishop of Milwaukee, replied that he is in sympathy with the request of the priests but noted that present procedures must be followed until such a time as the holy see approves new ones.

Have Greater Voice
Both noted that even though present procedures for selection of bishops would not permit a completely affirmative response to the Green Bay priests' request, new procedures already proposed to the see by the American Bishops will apparently give priests greater voice in the selection of candidates for Episcopal consecration.

At the present time the assignment of bishops to particular dioceses as well as the final nomination of individuals for elevation remains in the hands of the Pope.

Both archbishops stressed the need for advancing the best possible candidates and concurred with the view expressed by the association that this can most adequately be done only after priests of a diocese are consulted on the qualifications of proposed candidates.

These responses came from the two prelates in answer to a letter sent by the board of the association to members of the American hierarchy, requesting some consideration of a role for diocesan priests in the naming of their bishop.

The Green Bay Diocese is presently without a bishop. The Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, who headed the diocese since 1945, died Dec. 1.

Letters of response were also received from the Most Rev. Frederick Preking, Bishop of LaCrosse, who outlined present procedures for the selection of bishops, and the Most Rev. Cletus O'Donnell, Bishop of Madison, who indicated his interest in the initiatives of the Green Bay organization.

Letters also were sent to the Most Rev. Luigi Raimondi, Archbishop of Washington, D. C., apostolic delegate to the United States; John Cardinal Cery, Chicago, ranking Midwestern prelate, and the

Leroux Blames Crime on Sister

Takes Stand for First Time in Murder Trial

BY JOHN SAWALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
STEVENS POINT — In a startling turn of events, accused slayer Mark Leroux Wednesday charged that it was his 16-year-old sister Jeanette, not he, who shot their parents to death.

Taking the witness stand in his own defense, Mark, 19, said he then set fire to the house in an attempt to cover the crime to help his sister.

Leroux is charged with two counts of first degree murder in the shooting deaths of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Leroux, route 1, Amherst. Both parents were shot in the head while they slept during the early morning hours of Nov. 7. The house was then burned.

Key Witness
Jeanette is the key witness against her brother and testified at both a preliminary hearing and the murder trial, now in its fourth day. She stated she was awakened by four shots and a short time later saw her brother come downstairs. She has also said that several times before his arrest her brother had made statements of committing the perfect crime.

Wednesday was the first time Mark took the stand during the trial that started here Monday in Circuit Court here at Stevens Point.

Mark was arrested Nov. 14 and charged with the double murder of his parents.

Practical Limit Near, State Told

Hearing examiners for the State Division of Resource Development were told today that pollution in the Fox River from major pulp mills has been reduced to near the practical limit of what can be accomplished.

The views were expressed in statements prepared for delivery Thursday afternoon by executives of five papermaking firms at a Fox River pollution hearing in the Outagamie County Courthouse.

Abatement progress to date has been tremendously expensive they pointed out in their statements. Further substantial improvements to be achieved, they said, must depend principally upon research that can develop more effective and practical technical methods for treating the very dilute industrial wastes.

Joint Treatment
Richard M. Billings, assistant vice president of Kimberly-Clark Corp., said his firm hopes that stream improvement will result from a study being launched by the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) to find practical avenues for joint treatment of municipal and industrial wastes.

"Pollution is everybody's problem and today's conditions are due to population growth as well as to industrial expansion," he declared. "Joint treatment may be the solution."

He continued, "Much is being done at individual mills, however, to solve today's problems with an eye also to the future, and Kimberly-Clark has several important stream improvement programs in various stages of planning and completion."

"These will progressively reduce pollution from our mills," he said. "The total effort being made throughout this valley is designed to significantly improve the Fox River."

"The effect of these efforts should be felt this summer and will become increasingly apparent in the following years," he claimed.

Billings explained how the

The U.S. economy will gain might bring the inflation percentage down to 2," he said.

Inflation Not Significant
In a further economic comparison, Sprinkel added that while prices gained about 1.3 per cent annually from 1951 to 1965, inflation did not play such a significant role.

The predictions, although not completely certain, are based on several strong indicators, he said.

"None of the leading indicators predict a slip in the economy; 80 per cent indicate it will rise and 20 per cent say it will stay where it is," he explained.

He mentioned some of the indicators were average hours worked, number of housing permits and common stock prices.

Speaking of beginning the eighth year of continuous, but relative, expansion, Sprinkel

Just Before Election Aldermen Vote Signs of the Times

Appleton aldermen engaged in good-natured ribbing of mayoral candidates in their midst Wednesday night.

But on the serious side — they pulled out all stops to change the law to allow office seekers to plant campaign posters in residential front yards.

The annual primary is Tuesday, March 5.

Mayor George Buckley, who presides over council meetings, along with Aids. Roy Pointer (14th) and William Wachendonk (3rd) are among the mayoral aspirants.

When it came time to vote on voiding the sign ban, and waive other restrictions, Pointer asked to be excused because he had "a vested interest."

Pointer meant the upcoming election — not the signs.

Informed the council rules called for him to vote if in the chambers, Pointer grinned and ducked out for minute.

He was followed by Wachendonk who went out in the hallway to quench his thirst at a bubbler.

Buckley Says Yes

"Now that the two other candidates have left," mused Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th), "will you vote to break the tie if we have one?"

Buckley replied he was more than willing to vote "yes," informing his colleagues, "I've got about 500 signs ready to go up."

Ald. James Bethke (19th), who was the author of the original resolution to change the city code and allow signs in neighborhoods, sounded the serious notes.

"I am opposed to any restrictions on political signs," Bethke declared, noting that the city plan commission was willing to change the present law with qualifications.

Suggested restrictions were the signs not exceed five square feet; that they not be placed on private property less than 10-feet from public street right-of-way; they not be artificially lighted; and not be erected more than 30 days before the election and have to be removed three days after.

Signs Commonplace
Bethke said signs on lawns during election campaign "have been commonplace in Appleton over the years and have never been a big problem."

Ald. Orville Strutz (17th) did not share Bethke's longing to transform Appleton neighborhoods into a "sign city" during election campaigns.

"I think present controls are good and we should keep them," Strutz opined.

Revising the code in time for the upcoming election has one major hurdle yet — a public hearing at which the public can present its case.

Singer Lynn Kellogg was greeted by members of her family, Appleton Mayor George Buckley and press, radio and television reporters Wednesday when she arrived in Appleton for a benefit performance for the March of Dimes scheduled for 8 p.m. tonight at the Lawrence Memorial Chapel. Meeting Miss Kellogg, center, at Outagamie County Airport, were her brother, attorney John Kellogg, and her mother, Mrs. H. B. Kellogg, 1311 Lehman Lane. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Menasha to Seek Department Store

MENASHA — The "blueprint action is necessary by the MRA for action" prepared by the economic consultant for Mena-sha sets top priority on an active search for a department store tenant.

Larry Smith & Co., the Chic-go consultant working with the city's master planning firm, has summarized its lengthy and detailed study of the market strength in Menasha and of potential investor interest in a five-page report which ends with a priority list for develop-ment projects.

The economists found that there is potential for a new department store, in addition to the need for expansion by the existing retailers, for a new motor inn, more convenience retail operations, an apartment house complex and one more major office structure — all area in order to most effective-ly exploit the full commercial potential which exist down-ward.

At the top of the list is the plan for adequate off-street parking facilities and other retail stores. The Menasha Redevelopment Authority (MRA) has already sent out letters to development firms who would assemble the land for such a venture.

Second Priority

In second priority is a search for an office developer who would be interested in investing in the central business district.

The 70-unit motor inn is listed their priority, along with the apartment complex needed near the downtown. The Smith firm has predicted the need for 230 per-nore housing units in multi-sons aboard crashed head on family structures before 1980.

Fourth priority is convenience, including recreational services, ger train and injuring about 150 But the economists feel that no passengers, police reported.

Circuit Jury Awards Only $6,000 to Menomonee Pair

A Menomonee Falls couple of his auto in causing the injured in an auto accident at mishap the afternoon of Nov. 19. U.S. 41 and State 125 more than 1965.

The Youngs were seeking a total of $65,000 from Handrich and his insurance carrier, American Family Mutual Life Insurance Co., according to the original complaint.

However, the jury found that Young was 30 per cent negligent in the operation of his auto, in causing the accident, and that Handrich was 70 per cent negli-ent.

Both Injured

The jury ruled that the Youngs, both of whom were injured in the crash, were entitled to $5,766 for personal injuries and hospital and medical expenses, and that Young was entitled to $300 for loss of earnings while under treatment for his injuries.

However, since it was a split verdict, final settlement is up to the court.

Judge Andrew W. Parnell ruled that Young was entitled to $50 for damage to his car not covered by insurance.

Mill Manager Named by Firm

MENASHA — Edwin Hanna has been named plant manager, of the Paper Mill Division of Wisconsin Tissue Mills, accord-ing to an announcement of James Asmuth, President.

Hanna, who was formerly paper mill superintendent of Cel Fibe Paper Mill, Milltown, N.J., came to Menasha the first of the year. He replaces Jack Haanen who has taken a position with a New York firm.

The new plant manager at-tended the New Mexico School of Mines, Long Beach Junior College in California and Drexel College in Philadelphia, Pa.

"We are setting aside four before coming to Menasha he, works for the jury trial," Judge Cane said today. "A pre-trial division manager of Marinette has also been set for 3:30 p.m., Feb. 19, at which time we will and as pulp preparation super-survey the stipulations in the suit as to the amount of damage caused by the fire and to mark time in the jury trial as it will expedite answers to the ques-tions, how did the fire start and she had taken several sleeping pills.

Youth Placed On Probation In Gault Case

OSHKOSH — A 17-year-old Neenah youth, who has spent most of the past three years in corrective institutions, was placed on probation Wednesday by Judge James Sarres for an offense which occurred more than two years ago.

The boy, one of two Twin City youths who were released from the Wisconsin State Reforma-tory at Green Bay on the Supreme Court's Gault Decision, had been adjudged delinquent at a re-trial on Jan. 3.

The youth at first had pleaded innocent at the re-trial to the charges of stealing two stop watches from a Neenah store, and of breaking into a home and stealing two shotguns, the counts which sent him to the State School for Boys at Wales last January. However, he changed his plea to no contest.

The youth was released to a probation officer following Wednesday's hearing on the condition he remain in the county jail until a foster home and employment can be found.

The probation officer, along with the Neenah police officer at the hearing and the boy's court-appointed attorney, rec-ommended probation to give the youth another chance.

Judge Sarres, in noting the teenager has "run the gamut of state institutions," warned him that the next time he appears in court, his case will be waived to adult court.

Girl Hospitalized After Car Hits Utility Pole On Wisconsin Avenue

Wanda L. Heuer, 18, 121½ N. Appleton St., was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hos-pital about 1:20 a.m. today after her 1967 auto left the roadway in the 3700 block of E. Wiscon-sin Avenue and broke off a utility pole.

Outagamie County police said that the girl suffered a back injury. She was rounding a curve while eastbound on Wis-consin when her car went out of control, struck the utility pole and traveled nearly 100 feet along the north side of the road.

She told police that she was attempting to avoid a west-bound auto that got into her lane. Police estimated damage at $900.

Woman Hospitalized Following an Apparent Medication Overdose

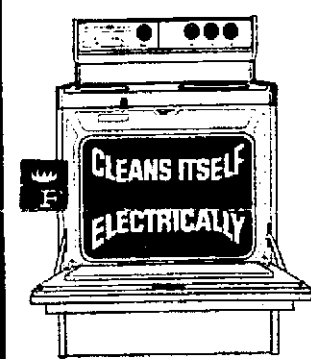

A 32-year-old Appleton woman was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by the Appleton Fire Department rescue squad about 3:15 p.m. Wednesday after she apparently took an overdose of medication.

A friend of the woman tele-phoned firemen, who found her unconscious on a couch in the living room of her southeast-side home. Police were told that the woman had been despon-dent. She told her friend that she had taken several sleeping pills.

Kaukauna Rotary Hears Rogers Talk

Assemblyman Attacks GOP for Failure to Act on Crucial Bills

KAUKAUNA — "The governor should call the legislature back into session to do the job we were all elected to do," Assemblyman William Rogers, D-Outagamie County 2nd District, told the Rotary Club Wednesday noon.

"The record established by the 1967 Legislature leaves much to be desired," Rogers said. "This session compiled a longer record of failure than any Legislature within memory. The failure and lack of accomplishment are due not only to the conservative make-up of the Legislature leaders, but primarily to the lack of responsible leadership exercised by the governor of this state."

"The working people," he said, "the educationally disadvantaged, our senior citizens and the consumers were left high and dry when we adjourned our session this past December."

Rogers claimed every Democrat in the Assembly voted against yielding or defaulting on their promises and responsibilities. He accused the majority party of letting a bill on labor legislation die because the governor disagreed with it and claimed, for the first time, a bill agreed upon by an advisory committee concerning extension of unemployment compensation failed to get legislative approval.

Hold Back Bill

A third labor bill, concerning judgment before garnishment, also was left to die in the last legislative session, Rogers said. In the field of consumer protection, he said, "the entire package of the attorney general was blocked by the 1967 Legislature. They were bills hailed by many as long overdue and needed."

"A bill to permit a 'cooling off' period after being hooked by a door-to-door high pressure governor was reported to have would raise the age from 18 to 19 and would have made the age 19 been very disturbed because the 19 and would have made the age 19 Legislature did not pass exactly as possible and still his type of a highway safety retain local option," Rogers said. But where was the governor when the debate and discussion of this final version of the Legislature back into session would be "a complete ing to James Gertz, recreation director. Competition will be held on the pee wee, midget, junior, intermediate, senior and teen level representing children six and under to over 15. Heats will be held in events where large entries are noted. Time and weather permitting, the event will be postponed to Jan. 28.

A bill designed to protect businessmen from shoplifters was left for another session, Rogers noted.

Speaking of the governor's legislative result in the safety bill, Rogers said, "The assembly was a compromise that KAUKAUNA — The recreation department sponsored ice carnival will be held at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the Tenth Street playground for boys and girls, according to James Gertz, recreation director. Heats will be held in events where large entries are noted. Time and weather permitting, the event will be postponed to Jan. 28.

Race Develops for City Attorney Post

KAUKAUNA — A race shaped up for the city attorney position in the April election when Emmet W. Rohan, former city attorney, took out nomination papers at the city clerk's office for the April election. Rohan, 917 Eden Ave., served as city attorney from 1958 to 1962, lost to incumbent Donald Green in 1962 and won again in a 3-way race in 1964. In the 1966 election Green again unseated Rohan. Green had taken out papers for re-election earlier.

Review Asked Of Defense Contracts

Byrnes Suggests Cancellations
May be Needed

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Rep. John Byrnes, R-Green Bay, has asked Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to review and possibly cancel contracts made with no further contracts would be British shipyards and other defense suppliers.

Byrnes made this request because the British have announced they would cancel purchase of U.S. F-111 aircraft.

Emphasizing that the contracts totaling between $1 and $2 million with British shipyards and other defense suppliers was made to enable the British to have sufficient foreign exchange to buy the aircraft, Byrnes said that the shipyards and other defense suppliers' contracts should no longer be in effect.

He told McNamara that with cancellation by the British of the F-111 the U.S. should do two things: — Immediately announce that terms of the F-111 agreement with the view to cancel all such contracts where this can be done without jeopardizing our defense effort.

— Order the Defense Department to begin immediately to review its contracts previously awarded the British under the terms of the F-111 agreement with the view to cancel all such contracts where this can be done without jeopardizing our defense effort.

Riverside Officially Opens New Plant

Ribbon-Cutting Ceremony on Company's 75th Anniversary

Riverside Paper Corp. today officially opened its new million-dollar plant on Appleton's southside — exactly 39 weeks after the date of the ground-breaking.

The ribbon-cutting by corporate and city officials at the modern, sprawling facility at tractor was C. R. Meyer and 110 E. Kensington Dr. had a two-son's Co.

The nationally known paper manufacturing and processing has an attractive exterior, in-firm observed its 75th anniversary, having been founded Jan. 18, 1893. It was then known as the Riverside Fibre Co.

Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), Education and Welfare (HEW) made in December have received favorable responses from department officials.

Federal Funds

COG voted in November to apply for two-thirds federal support for a $208,370 study of area water, sewer and disposal needs, which includes a $38,370 solid waste disposal study and an approximately $170,000 study of water and disposal needs.

Franchett said consideration of the HEW grant for $25,580 would come in March, while the HUD request is expected soon after. He said there appeared to be no shortage of funds to cover the HUD application, although he added that the program will have to be funded in two stages, with another COG application required after July.

Assistant COG Planner Greg Kittelson told members the original draft of a model floodplain zoning ordinance for municipalities will have to be altered in some areas.

In a meeting with representatives from the Department of Resource Development and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Kittelson said it was decided that the water levels experienced during the flood of May, 1960, would be used as a guide in determining the floodplain limits.

Inflation Will Temper Gain In Economy said that inflation has slowed the progress.

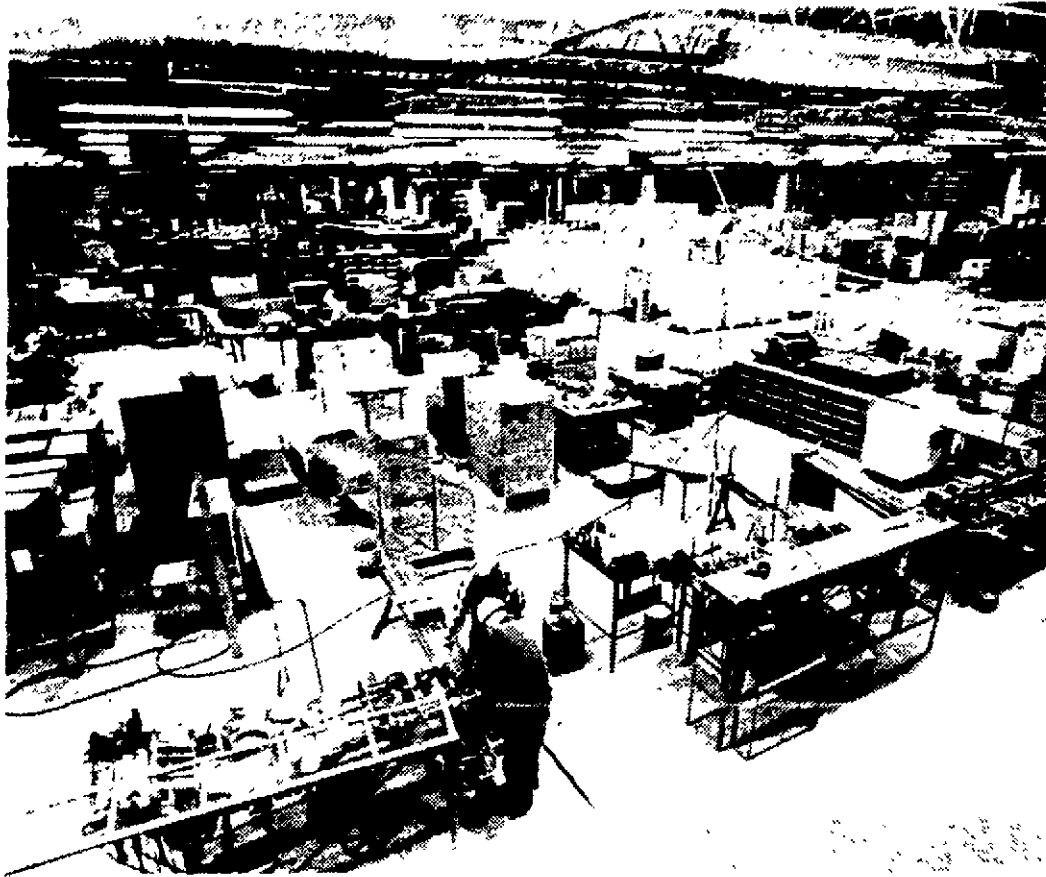

He questioned just how much of an expansion we are realizing since consumer spending has slowed. He noted that the money supply grew too rapidly in 1967, causing the spending slowdown.

Poor administration played a significant role in the inflationary spiral, according to Sprinkel. He claimed the timing for handling the problems was bad.

The economist felt that the President misunderstood how to keep interest rates down. The rates were highest at the end of the year.

"To keep interest rates down, change was taken from soft money and cigarette machines. Money in the cash register was taken from the 1961 and 1962 automobiles which then were taken from the used car lot.

A statewide alert has been issued for the stolen vehicles.

Fox Pulp Mills Cite Anti-Pollution Work

Kimberly mill reduced its biochemical oxygen demand (BOD) discharge 75 per cent through cutting its sulfite pulp output, storing spent liquor for controlled release and spreading roadbinder. When it became evident that no practical process now in existence could meet proposed state standards of water quality below Kimberly, the company reluctantly decided to shut down its sulfite mill permanently on next May 31, he said.

Reduce BOD

This will reduce daily discharge of BOD to less than 10

Street Work Outlined for Little Chute

LITTLE CHUTE — Preliminary steps for the summer street improvement program were taken by the village board Tuesday when they designated Monroe and Jefferson streets for resurfacing and installation of curb and gutter.

A public hearing was set for 8 p.m. Feb. 2 to permit homeowners to air their feeling and discuss proposed assessments.

Monroe is scheduled for improvement from Main to McKinley Street and Jefferson from Main to the Chicago and North Western Railway tracks.

In other action the board approved the purchase of a $482 air compressor for sewer lift station.

The resignation of Thomas Jansen, a village policeman, was accepted and the clerk authorized to advertise for a new patrolman. Jansen resigned to accept a like position in Combined Locks. His reason was the smaller force in that village provided better opportunity for advancement.

Plans for pollution abatement expenditures of $1 1/4 million during 1968-69 by Charmin Paper Products Co., Green Bay, were announced by Martin J. Auchter, vice president. He stated that this is in addition to more than $10 million already spent there to construct and operate facilities that reduce discharge of fibers and spent sulphite liquor. The major installations previously completed include a yeast plant, an evaporate-and-burn plant, large increases in liquor collection capacity, and an elaborate system to dispose of finely suspended solids, he said.

He further detailed major installations and process modifications that are comparably reducing BOD and suspended solids at the firm's other three papermills on the Fox.

"Consolidated Papers Inc., has cut daily BOD discharge of its Appleton pulp mill from 45 tons down to 12 tons," G. K. Dickerman, technical assistant to the president, told the hearing, "at a total expenditure of over $2,250,000. This figure compares with our total investment of $5,500,000 for the remainder of the mill."

"It would not be good business judgment to consider additional major capital expenditures to meet further escalated targets in the reduction of BOD loadings at this mill," he said. "We recognize further reduction may be necessary to reach the state's proposed water quality standards."

"Further reduction by our Appleton mill must come through treatment of the very dilute wastes, at the moment an unsolved problem, Dickerman explained. "We are conducting pilot studies on the Pulp Manufacturers Research League's reverse osmosis process and this will be followed by a large-scale demonstration of a commercial-size unit."

Abatement Plans

Plans for pollution abatement expenditures of $1 1/4 million during 1968-69 by Charmin Paper Products Co., Green Bay, were announced by Martin J. Auchter, vice president. He stated that this is in addition to more than $10 million already spent there to construct and operate facilities that reduce discharge of fibers and spent sulphite liquor. The major installations previously completed include a yeast plant, an evaporate-and-burn plant, large infilterable solids loss well below one pound per thousand gallons, he said.

Recounting his plant's continuing abatement installations and the steady improvement in quality of its discharges into the stream, Martti Lundstrom, manager of the Green Bay Mill of American Can Co., described the demonstration project in which four pulp mills and the Green Bay Metropolitan Sewerage District are participating with the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration.

This research is aiming for a sewage-type process capable of treating dilute pulp and papermill wastes along with municipal sewage, he said.

slaying after Jeanette told a girl friend that her brother had killed their parents. Authorities were notified and Mark was taken into custody.

Saw Sister

When Mark took the stand Wednesday he told approximately the same story as his sister had concerning the events that took place at the home up until the family retired for the evening. But instead of his sister being awakened by four shots, Mark said he was awakened between 1:30 and 2 a.m. by a loud noise which he identified as gun shots.

After hearing the shots, he said, "I saw my sister come down the stairway. There were no lights on and she had a flashlight and was making a lot of noise coming downstairs." At the time Mark said he was lying on a sofa in the living room. "I turned on a table lamp and saw that she was crying and had a gun in her other hand," he said. "She then said, 'Our parents were dead.'" he added. According to Mark, she then asked him, "Oh Mark what can I do?" "She asked me to help her," Leroux testified. He said he then took the gun from her hand and went upstairs where he found his father on the bed and his mother half off the bed, both dead. "I got sick and threw up," Mark told the jury and packed courtroom in a hushed voice. It was the first of two occasions that Mark displayed any emotion during the three days of testimony.

When her brother made his accusation that she had killed their parents, Jeanette showed no display of emotion.

would in effect be unnecessary litigation for both union and the municipality, expressing confidence the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC) would uphold the union's position.

The board then voted to reconsider and recommended Local 563 as the recognized agent for the seven employees in the two units.

Protect Interests

City Atty. David Geenen had advised the board to seek a representation election "to make sure the city's interests are protected" and voted against the recommendation.

On the first vote calling for the election, Mayor Buckley was the lone dissenter, declaring that as an attorney familiar with labor relations matters he felt no union representation dispute existed and the matter could be handled according to procedure.

inflation rampant at home and the dollar under attack abroad," he warned.

He pointed out that Johnson did not outline "the kind of wartime austerity which is a vital prerequisite for getting our house in order." Byrnes has consistently demanded no tax increase be enacted until an austerity program reducing non-essential federal spending has been inaugurated.

Seventh District Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Marshfield, called the speech "a message of expediency."

"The President's deficit figure is not a fair or legitimate one," he said. "The credibility gap was widened by his message last night." Laird is chairman of the House Republican Conference.

"The speech was tired, uninspired and deeply disappointing to most of the nation," commented Sixth District Rep. William Steiger, R-Oshkosh.

"Mr. Johnson did not offer needed restraint in spending and once more resorted to juggling figures. He failed to candidly inform the American people of the state of our economy."

He noted the President's lack of comment in this election year about the plight of the American farmer. "The message," Steiger said, "clearly indicates more than ever before the need for change in our country's leadership."

Riverside Plant Hailed

Appleton's newest industrial plant was hailed today as an outstanding example of cooperation between industry and local government.

Exchanging the compliments during a ribbon-cutting ceremony at the Riverside Paper Corp. plant were Mayor George Buckley and T. C. Catlin, chairman of the paper firm's board of directors.

As the doors were swung open to officially dedicate the city's latest industrial addition, Catlin recalled that on Jan. 18, 1893 five local businessmen met and organized the company which is now Riverside.

75 Years Young
Declaring that he wanted to make a fine distinction on today's occasion, Catlin said: "We are most emphatically not 75 years old today, but 75 years young, and to make no mistake about this we are celebrating the anniversary by officially opening this brand new, modern converting plant."

He recalled it was a short 39 weeks ago that Mayor Buckley helped to officially mark the beginning of plant construction by turning the first spadeful of earth.

"That this huge plant could be constructed and put in operation in such a brief period of time is — as The Post-Crescent headlined last April — a tribute to industry-city cooperation," Catlin added.

"It could not have been done without the splendid assistance given to Riverside by you and your administration, and on behalf of the company I want to express our thanks to all city departments," Catlin told the mayor.

He then asked Buckley to "complete the task" which he began those 39 weeks ago and officially open the new plant.

Ribbon Snipped
Company officials and others looked on as Buckley snipped the ribbon.

Top officials of Riverside include Catlin, board chairman; Harry G. Davis, president; James Laurino, vice president; William Vaughn, vice president marketing; Safford McMyler, plant manager.

Wrightstown Planning Driver Training for Private School Students

WRIGHTSTOWN — Community High School is now taking tentative registrations for a possible summer program of Driver Education for those students who live within the school district but attend a private school.

To register the student must reside in the district and must reach the age of 15½ years prior to July 1, 1968. Registration may be completed by calling the high school office on or before Feb. 15, 1968.

Final determination of the possibility of offering the course shall be made by the board of education and shall be in part dependent upon the tentative registration numbers, as well as on all other factors affecting such a program.

Top Officials of Riverside Paper Corp., representatives of city government and guests were present today as the firm's new plant was dedicated at 110 E. Kensington Drive on Appleton's far southside. This picture shows the entrance to the firm's new office area. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Area Quartet Will Back Lynn Kellogg

Rich Crandall Foursome, Lawrence Students on March of Dimes Event

BY JINGO
When Appleton's Lynn Kellogg appears on stage at the Lawrence University Memorial Chapel at 8 o'clock tonight in a March of Dimes benefit, four of the accompanists will be members of the Rich Crandall Quartet, a jazz based instrumental group which is beginning to Getz had college students turned on in the earlier Sixties. Getz is one of the artists-composers Crandall's group draws ideas from. The young men also list the writings of Cannonball Adderley, Thelonious Monk, Dizzy Gillespie, Duke Ellington and John Lewis (of the MJQ) as prime suppliers of their material.

The RCQ, if Jingo may be permitted abbreviations, uses its own arrangements. The sound will vary from jazz standards to rock in the jazz medium.

The latter procedure (i.e., doing jazz versions of material by such pop stars as the Beatles, Donovan and the Association) is currently very popular among even the most sophisticated and highly reputed jazz artists.

The Quartet presently appears tonight gives an interesting as-should provide for an interesting at the Left Guard Charcoal peet to Miss Kellogg's appear- slate.

Appleton Students Jane Le Fevre and Daniel Foster supply romantic interest in the Lawrence Opera Theatre production of "The Merry Wives of Windsor" this week at the Music-Drama Center. Director John Koopman sings the role of buffoon Sir John Falstaff alternately with Conservatory sophomore David Varum. Curtain time is 8 p.m. through Saturday with a 2 p.m. matinee also on Saturday.

make a name for itself around Fox Cities night spots.

The Quartet — along with Lynn's guitarist, Al Thomas, and two other area musicians, trombonist John Schulenberg and pianist Tim Gmeiner — will give the Appleton-born singer full support, enabling her repertoire to include a wider variety of selections.

Crandall, a personable young man whom Jingo knows to be adept on both piano and trumpet, and his three fellow musicians are students at Lawrence.

For purposes of the quartet, Crandall plays piano. Other rhythm section members, bassist Gary Woelm and drummer Jim Murray, joined Rich to form a trio in the autumn of 1966. Tenor saxophonist Dennis Young joined the trio (logically making it a quartet, folks) in the spring of 1967.

Crandall feels the addition of an outstanding saxophonist made the group one of tremendous potential. Jingo can second that emotion, because the timing of Young's entry into the group coincided with a surge of saxophone popularity in jazz that rivaled, and possibly topped, the level of interest when Overconfidence, the old bugaboo that can spell doom for the most talented of basketball teams, will be a common enemy for the three co-leaders of the Fox Valley Catholic Conference this weekend when they face second-division foes.

De Pere Abbot Pennings, Green Bay Premontre, and Appleton Xavier—all deadlocked for the league's top spot with 6-1 records—have home engagements against teams that own combined won-lost marks of 3-18. In addition, the Squires, Cadets and Hawks have already posted easy victories over their

U.S., Canada Drivers Enter Snowmobiles

Eagle River and Rhinelander Set For Weekend Events

EAGLE RIVER (AP) — Defending champion Duane Frandsen of Pembine, Wis., and 1966 titlist Steve Ave of Duluth, Minn., head the field of snowmobile drivers from the United States and Canada who will bring their machines to Eagle River Friday and Sunday for the world's championship snowmobile derby.

On Saturday the drivers will compete in the Hodag cross country snowmobile marathon in nearby Rhinelander.

Lionel Bolieu of Sudbury, Ont., will lead the contingent of Canadian drivers.

Competition on the high-banked oval at Eagle River is set for Friday, along with top-speed runs on a new electronically-timed quarter-mile straightaway. There will also be racing on the five-mile cross country speed obstacle course with its cross-over bridges and Monza wall.

Sunday's finale will be a 16-lap event on the quarter-mile oval for the 15 fastest drivers.

Rhinelander's grueling 50-mile marathon Saturday features a new closed-course lead-in to the cross country challenge. Some 10,000 are expected to watch the events.

MPC Seeks To Increase
Grid Schedule
The Midwest Prep Confer- ence, of which Fox Valley Lutheran is a member, favors a 6-game football schedule in 1969.

In a recent meeting at FVL, athletic directors and coaches recommended that the current 5-game schedule be increased. Fox Lutheran, in '69, would play three large schools and three small ones. Principals or head masters of the member schools will vote on the recommenda- tion in February.

The MPC decided not to schedule any farther ahead than 1969 because a new Lutheran high school in Milwaukee should be ready to enter a team by 1970.

Patriots Face GBW; Terrors To Meet East have a seemingly easy game at Sheboygan South Friday but could be in for somewhat of a tussle when they face fifth-place Fond du Lac Saturday.

The Bill Morse-coached Patriots, who began their history in the new East gym impressively against GBE last weekend, will face a bigger challenge when GBW's Wildcats come to town.

The title-favored Wildcats, who inexplicably slumbered through a 1-4 early-season record, have come to life for successive wins over Oshkosh and AHS-W.

Jerry Tagge, who owns the second highest scoring average in the conference (21.9 points) is the key to the GBW attack. The Wildcats' Mark Hansen tallied 17 points last Friday.

AHS-E will depend on big Tom Jones (who is averaging 16.4 in league play) and a quartet of other reliable scorers. All five Patriot starters — Jones, Rick Stach, Bob Meyer, Biane Reichelt and Gary Bleier — were in double figures against G B E. Reichelt and Stach are both averaging 12.6 for the conference campaign.

The Patriots, who are averaging 63.8 points in the FRVC, will meet the circuit's third best defense. GBW has allowed an average of 56.3 per start. AHS-E's defense (a 57.8 average) will be confronted by the Wildcats, who are averaging 58.2.

The Dick Emanuel-coached Terrors will strive to continue their torrid home-floor play. They have won five straight games — all in the FRVC — on their own court. AHS-W meets a GBE team that figures to be stronger than the one that came to town — at AHS-E — last week. The Red Devils, at that time, were minus Chuck Hougard and Mark Kelly, because of the flu.

The Terrors, however, figure to be stronger, too — in that team leader Tom Huntz should be closer to top physical form. Hampered by an ankle injury at GBW last Friday, Hintz was held to his season low of nine points.

Streak Snapped

Even so, the Terrors gave the Wildcats all they could handle for three periods before seeing their FRVC win streak snapped at six games. With the score tied, 40-all, late in the third period, the Wildcats scored the final basket of the quarter then dominated the final stanza, 20-7.

The Terrors' aggressive and varied defense — the second most proficient in the FRVC — will be principally faced with stopping John DeYoung (with a 17.3 average) and Jim Brawner (12.5). The Red Devils are averaging 60.2 points a game, while AHS-W has given up only 53.8. (Manitowoc leads defensively, with 53.6).

GBE's defense has been the league's most porous — an allowance of 68.8 per game. The Terrors have averaged 53 points, offensively.

Hintz, with a 19.9-point pace, ranks third in total FRVC scoring — with only Manitowoc's Pete Hansen and North's Pat Matzdorf ahead of him.

Carl Hunt, with a 9.2 pace, is second on the Terror team. Mark Schroeder produced his career high of 16 points last Friday. Ade Dillon and Mark Catlin will start in the backcourt.

Braves Lost $300,000 In Support of Soccer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Braves did not have a soccer team and attendance was higher.

The Braves lost $300,000 in the Southeast last year, the baseball club announced in its annual financial report Wednesday.

William C. Bartholomay, president and chairman of the club, said in a statement to shareholders that net income for the year for Atlanta Braves, Inc., and its subsidiaries was $480,053.

That was a drop of more stock, Bartholomay said, than half a million dollars from $1.52 compared with $1.14 the 1966 income of $991,885, when previous year.

Montreal Cops, 6-1; Rangers Beat Chicago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS with one tie, sank deeper into Here comes Montreal and the cellar, five points behind To there goes Detroit, moving just rento and New York.

They passed Wednesday night and the high-flying Canadiens gave the Red Wings another kick downward in the National Hockey League's East Division by crushing them 6-1 in Montreal.

The Montreal victory was its sixth straight and eighth in 10 games with two ties, a string that has moved the revitalized Canadiens from last place with the lowest-scoring team in the division to third with the explosive attack of old Detroit, winless in six games.

Hull Says He May Decide to Wear Helmet

TORONTO (AP) — Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks, the National Hockey League's leading goal scorer, said Tuesday the death of Minnesota forward Bill Masterton has made him consider wearing a helmet in future NHL games.

Masterton died of brain injuries suffered when his head hit the ice during a game against Oakland last Saturday night.

"After this, I'm going to take a very careful look at the possibility of wearing a helmet," said Hull, who holds the circuit's one season record for goals with 54. "It makes no sense that a player should wear good protective equipment on every part of his body except the most important part."

Stan Mikita, Hull's teammate and the NHL's scoring leader last season, expressed similar views. "I'll be wearing a helmet as soon as I can find a good one," Mikita said. "And to be sure it's right for me, I'm working on my own design. The present helmets just don't fit well and are uncomfortable."

Discuss Legislation Veteran Service Night Slated at New London

NEW LONDON — A Veterans Service Night is being sponsored at the American Legion Club, at 7:45 p.m. Feb. 21 for all Outagamie and Waupaca County veterans, wives, widows and other interested persons.

All pension, education and welfare bills, relating to veterans and their families, will be discussed. Following the presentations, officers will be available for private consultations with persons attending the meeting.

Francis met Rose Earl, a widow, 50 years ago. They got married Wednesday. She's 81, also a retired plumber.

About 30 friends and relatives attended the ceremony in the First Baptist Church, where the bride first was married 62 years ago.

How did Francis propose? "It was New Year's Day and I was so lonely sitting at home," explained Rose. "Well, he knocked at the door. He said he had come to see me. We had coughnuts and coffee and well, then he just asked me to marry him."

Named directors were Jack Ashauer, Joseph Ball, Floyd Pendleton and Donald Lappen. A karate demonstration was given after the meeting, which attracted a record number of members, according to KAC officers.

Man Waited 86 Years to Find The Right Girl

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Ralph Francis was a bachelor for 86-years because "I never met anybody before I thought I could get along with until I met Rose."

"It was only a matter of time before I asked her to marry me," said Francis, a retired plumber.

Hayes Withdraws From Jones Duel

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What was to be a featured halftime attraction at the Pro-Bowl game Sunday, a 100-yard dash between Homer Jones and Bob Hayes, has been canceled.

Hayes said Wednesday he would not run.

The Dallas Cowboy flanker said he was afraid if he ran an all-out sprint in uniform it might lead to a pulled muscle. He said he didn't want to take the chance. Jones plays for the New York Giants.

The two had planned to try and break the unofficial record of 10.5 seconds set by Bob Boyd of the Rams in 1953.

Three Directors Are Elected by KAC

KAUKAUNA — Four directors were elected to 3-year terms at the recent annual meeting of the Kaukauna Athletic Club. Directors will meet later this month to elect officers.

Named directors were Jack Ashauer, Joseph Ball, Floyd Pendleton and Donald Lappen. A karate demonstration was given after the meeting, which attracted a record number of members, according to KAC officers.

Wisconsin State universities Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Feb. 9 at Marquette University, Milwaukee, and Feb. 15 at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

Last summer the 67 students who worked on 22 daily newspapers and 13 weekly papers included 14 from Wisconsin State universities at Eau Claire, Oshkosh, Platteville, River Falls, Menomonie (Stout) and Whitewater. They earned $65 a week while learning how to gather, write and edit the news. Two from Stout were graphic art students working in the production department.

Majors in journalism now are offered at Eau Claire and River Falls. Journalism majors have been approved by the WSU regents for La Crosse, Oshkosh, Superior and Whitewater, with final action by the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education expected in March. Minors in journalism are offered at all universities and at Platteville, and at the University of Eau Claire and Stout.

Proliferation Accord Met

U.S., Russia Agree on Treaty
To Halt Nuclear Arms Spread

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union presented today a new and comprehensive draft treaty to halt the peaceful nuclear activities with spread of nuclear weapons.

The treaty contained an article, No. 3 on international jurisdiction, or carried out under which was left blank in the original draft submitted to the 17-nation disarmament conference last Aug. 24.

The new draft also included substantial amendments aimed at meeting strong criticisms by nonaligned nations, particularly India.

The key Article 3 recognizes the International Atomic Energy Agency as the body having over-all control over safeguards. But it gave nonnuclear states 18 months in which to negotiate separate arrangements with the IAEA.

These arrangements must fulfill the provisions of Article 3.

Reds Smash Laos Troops Near Capital

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Triumphant North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao forces were reported today near the royal capital of Luang Prabang after routing a 4,000-man government force to the north.

Government commanders were trying to find their routed forces, which account for one-sixth of all royal combat troops. Only about 1,000 of the troops have filled back, informed sources said.

No one was willing to predict that the Communists were prepared to attack the royal capital, but informed sources declared the Communists "could go anywhere in the country with a force that size." They estimated the Communist force as regiment-sized, or about 1,200 men.

"Not Critical" Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma called the military situation "not too critical."

The North Vietnamese and Communist Pathet Lao routed the government troops six days ago from Nam Bac, 50 miles north of Luang Prabang. Nam Bac was the last major government stronghold north of the royal capital.

The Communist victory was the biggest in five years and they were reported maneuvering freely north of Luang Prabang.

which said safeguards must be applied "on all source or special fissionable material in all peaceful nuclear activities within the territory of any state party to the treaty, or under its jurisdiction, or carried out under its control anywhere."

Start in 180 Days Negotiations with the IAEA must start within 180 days of the original entry into force of the treaty.

Conference officials pointed out that even if most nations of the world sign the draft it could take several years before all governments ratify the treaty.

The new treaty included three new articles designed to meet opposition from the nonaligned countries. But they were mainly changes of language and clarifications which did not change the original basic principles of the draft.

In brief, the new articles stated:

1. Potential peaceful benefits derived from nuclear explosions should be passed on by the nuclear powers to other nations on a nondiscriminatory basis. If nuclear explosives are hired by these nations for peaceful projects, then the charges made should be as low as possible and exclude any charge for research and development. Any nonnuclear nation can conclude such a deal with a nuclear power, either bilaterally or through an appropriate international body. Such "H-bombs for hire" schemes would automatically be subject to international inspection safeguards.

In Good Faith 2. Each party to the treaty undertakes to pursue negotiations in good faith on effective measures regarding cessation of the nuclear arms race and disarmament, and on a treaty on general and complete disarmament under strict and effective international control.

3. Nothing in the treaty affects the right of any group of states to conclude regional treaties in order to assure the total absence of nuclear weapons in their respective territories.

These articles went some way to meet two major nonaligned criticisms. These were: the original draft contained no article obliging the nuclear powers to seek disarmament agreements (the only reference was in the preamble). It did not spell out clearly that nonnuclear

'Shuffling' Predicted For Budget

$186 Billion Set
By Administration
In 'Unified' Plan

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The

Johnson administration will try to hold spending in check in its new "unified" $186 billion budget partly by shuffling program funds, officials say.

But some key members of Congress say they plan to seek cuts in what President Johnson referred to in his State of the Union message Wednesday night as a tight budget.

Johnson said spending in the new fiscal year which begins July 1 will increase by $10.4 billion, virtually all of it for defense needs and spending the administration is unable to control.

Already Available Administration officials said money for such stepped-up programs as model cities and manpower training will come from programs with less priority for which money is already available.

They added the Pentagon plans to switch several billions from one fund to another to avoid seeking more money from Congress during the current fiscal year.

Some construction projects are also likely to be deferred, it was said.

Johnson also appealed anew for adoption of a 10 per cent tax surcharge and requested removal of the gold backing for U.S. paper money. This would free about $10.7 billion in gold to defend the dollar abroad.

Under the new unified budget, to be used for the first time this year, Johnson projected a deficit of $8 billion on spending of $186 billion and revenues—including the surcharge—of about $178 billion.

Huge Trust Funds These figures include for the first time spending and receipts from huge government-operated trust funds such as Social Security and highways—a spending item of about $47 billion.

This would compare with

Comments From Abroad

LONDON (AP) — President Johnson's State of the Union offer of a bombing halt for productive talks on Vietnam drew primary interest from the British and European press today. Financial measures were of almost equal interest.

"LBJ spells out peace terms," was the London Evening News' headline. The Evening Standard said: "LBJ switches his Vietnam peace policy." The Times headline read: "Johnson resolute... on war but ready for peace."

There was no official British government reaction.

Jeremy Campbell of the Evening Standard wrote from Washington that the President's offer represents a "new shift of American policy, intended to test Hanoi's sincerity."

'Defied Critics' The Times reported: "President Johnson defied critics of his Vietnam war policy last night and said the United States response to the Communists could only be a rallying cry of no retreat."

Commenting on the domestic scene, Richard Evans of the Evening News reported from New York: "Obviously wary of the fact that 1968 is an election year, he offered no radically new proposals to cure the nation's ills—seeming content to stand pat on previous policies."

The Financial Times led with Johnson's request for a congressional removal of the 25 per cent gold cover to back domestic currency. Joe Rogaly, the newspaper's U.S. editor, wrote: "The purpose is to demonstrate that the entire U.S. gold stock (now down to around $12 billion) is behind American determination to keep the price of gold at $35 an ounce."

Vincent Ryder of the Conservative Daily Telegraph wrote: "For an election year State of the Union speech, it was almost sensationally dull. It sounded very much as though Mr. Johnson intends to try to patch together his old 'national consensus' approach for this election."

'Impressive Promises' Louis Heren of the Times reported: "The promises were impressive. The President is still very much the populist with fire in his belly. The welfare state, in theory at least, is not too far distant."

Paris' mass circulation daily France-Soir said the message means "there will not be a great deal of 'butter' for Americans this year." The newspaper's Washington correspondent wrote that "the 'Great Society' is marking time."

French business and banking circles met the speech with a sense of relief that the removal of the gold cover would strengthen the dollar. There was no official French government reaction. It is known that Finance Minister Michel Debre would like to see Congress pass the tax increase bill.

Common Market officials in Brussels, Belgium, quietly expressed satisfaction with the speech, especially the tax boost request. One source called the gold cover removal "a wise move that would give the United States more flexibility."

In Italy the pro-Communist daily Paese Sera headlined:

"Vietnam—no peace and more axes." The independent Momento Sera of Rome said "Peace objective in Vietnam and the dollar defended to the limit."

Item in Pass The Soviet news agency Tass carried a brief item on Johnson's address without comment.

"He again linked an end to the air war against North Vietnam with a number of conditions which he advanced for the first time in a speech in the Texas city of San Antonio last September," Tass said.

'State of Union' Talk Also Urges Enactment Of 10 Per Cent Surtax

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposes expanding the war against crime and big-city problems and lists a "really true" cease-fire as a priority goal in any Vietnam peace talks.

The President, in his Wednesday night State of the Union message to Congress, again urged enactment of a 10 per cent income tax hike to help pay for new attacks on unemployment and slum housing.

Johnson said it would take a $10.4 billion boost in spending to finance on-going programs. He reported the fiscal 1969 budget would reach a record $186 billion—with a built-in $8 billion deficit sure to go higher if the tax boost isn't approved.

Only when he called for federal action to aid cities and states in combatting crime and to halt "mail order murder" through gun-control legislation did the President get enthusiastic reaction from the lawmakers during his 51-minute, nationally televised address.

Many members of Congress did not attend the joint session.

Greater Applause Johnson's renewed demand that North Vietnam respond with military restraint to a halt in U.S. bombing found such war-policy critics as Sens. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., responding with silence amid applause.

Johnson drew greater applause in calling for a $2.1 billion program aimed at creating jobs for 500,000 hard-core jobless through federal-private business cooperation and a $1 billion slum rebuilding program.

In another major domestic proposal, the President suggested a 10-year program to provide six million new housing units for low and middle-income families.

He prefaced his domestic proposals, which included calls for new prenatal care and consumer protection programs, by saying:

"In our cities last summer, we saw how wide is the gulf for some Americans between the premise and the reality of our society."

"We cannot change all of this in a day. The issue is not whether we can change this; the issue is whether we will change this."

"I know we can. I believe we will."

Disputed by Laird Johnson's estimate that the Southeast Asia conflict will cost $25 billion in the fiscal year beginning July 1 was immediately disputed by Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Conference. Laird said the cost will be nearer $30 billion.

Asking for 100 additional FBI agents, the President predicted the nation will change frustratingly.

Emphatically Clear

Johnson Tells Hanoi To Meet Conditions

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's State of the Union message Wednesday night he declared: "and it is my hope and intent Johnson seeks to work out with North Vietnam a 'basis for peace talks' which could lead to a complete cease-fire in the Vietnamese war as the first order of business."

The President proposed top priority for the cease-fire goal in his State of the Union message to Congress Wednesday night. But at the same time he made it emphatically clear his conditions for halting the bombing of North Vietnam in order to open talks must be met.

By contrast, North Vietnam still insists on an unconditional end to the bombing.

Wants Assurances "There is no mystery about the questions which must be answered before the bombing is stopped," Johnson said. He did not specify the questions which in fact are already being put to Hanoi through diplomatic channels. But he is known to be seeking assurances that the talks would be prompt and probably productive and that North Vietnam would not try to pour reinforcements into the South after the bombing was halted—points he made in his address.

Johnson's formula for the bomb halt-peace talk deal was first put forth in a speech he made at San Antonio, Tex., last September. In paraphrasing it Wednesday night he appeared to ease his requirements in one respect and harden them in another.

Take Advantage At San Antonio Johnson said he assumed North Vietnam would not take advantage of the end of bombing to improve the

General Dies; One Survivor

12 Killed in Plane Crash

MINOT, N.D. (AP) — A two-star general and eight other Air Force officers were among 12 persons killed Wednesday when a huge Air Force tanker plane crashed on takeoff from fog-shrouded Minot Air Force Base. There was one survivor.

An Air Force investigating team sought the cause of the crash. The seven crewmen and six passengers were among 12 Air Force Base near Riverside, Calif.

Maj. Gen. Charles M. Eisenhower, 53, vice commander of the 15th Air Force, died when the plane burst into flames upon impact around 9 a.m. An explosion followed, spewing bodies and parts of the plane more than 1,000 feet in several directions. The death list also included three colonels, three lieutenant colonels, a major, a captain and three enlisted men.

The survivor was T Sgt. William G. Wright, 34, the plane's steward. Wright was taken to John Moses Hospital in Minot, 14 miles south of the Strategic Air Command base in northcentral North Dakota. He suffered serious burns over 70 to 80 per cent of his body and was reported in a critical condition.

The tanker, a four-engine jet, usually used to refuel other planes in flight, was on a routine staff visit to Minot and was taking off for Glasgow, Mont., Air Force Base. The craft had been outfitted for passenger service and was not carrying extra fuel, officials said.

Officials at the base said the plane apparently was airborne just before the crash. The wreckage was about 20 yards to the right of the way down the 15,000-foot long runway. The base information officer said there was no way to know yet what caused the accident. None of the victims was from Wisconsin.

Appleton Man One of Five To Die in 18-Vehicle Pileup

An Appleton truck driver, who stopped to give aid Wednesday, was killed in a massive car-truck pileup on a southern Indiana freeway, fatal collision involving two semi-trailers and an auto. Town was killed when a truck smashed into him.

Alvin E. Fuhs, 38, 1820 Melody Lane, Appleton, was driving a truck for Foremost Dairies on Interstate 65 near Sellersburg, Ind., when the pileup came into sight. According to state police, he halted when the driver saw the glow of flames in the dense fog and then vehicles began plowing into the tangle.

The crashes and flames from one of 18 vehicles involved in the chain reaction tragedy. Four ruptured fuel tanks frightened a couple who leaped from their undamaged car and ran up a hill. A piece of metal from a subsequent collision struck the woman, Mrs. Henry Merriman, 72, of Jackson, Mich., on the leg and she was hospitalized.

The Confusion Over Vietnamese Peace Talks

It is not difficult to understand both the South Vietnamese and American confusion over how, where and by whom any possible peace talks should start. But it is hard to determine how to avoid the confusion.

President Nguyen Van Thieu has indirectly criticized the United States for seeming to take the lead role in seeking peace. Although he did not mention the United States by name, Thieu said that some governments had made the mistake of "placing themselves in the center of peace efforts in Vietnam . . . while such a move should be made by the government of Vietnam." He went on to ridicule any idea of a halt in the bombing raids over North Vietnam and took a hard line against both the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong. "The republic of Vietnam most naturally should have the central role in any development relating to the events in Vietnam."

To the American, Thieu's arguments are faulty from a number of angles. United States troops are doing most of the fighting in Vietnam and conduct all the bombing raids. Without the presence of American troops, Thieu's government would collapse in a few hours and there is speculation that even without the National Liberation Front or any Communist pressure it also would collapse. The "republic" of Vietnam is a long way from the type of government Americans consider representative. Vietnam is not a sovereign nation; there is doubt that it has any characteristics of a nation.

But if the United States authorities are sincere in their stated objectives of wanting strong, independent and free nations around the world — and we think in general they are — we can hardly afford puppet rulers. To some extent at least Thieu was elected by voters in Vietnam and is responsible to them rather than to the United States. To make his government a legitimate one for the people of Vietnam he must get their support. In the creeping anti-Americanism developing in Vietnam, following the American line at every turn may be likely to lose such support. Whatever

Voting Machines Upheld

The city of Marinette, apparently the last holdout among the municipalities which resisted a legislative mandate for the use of voting machines for the administration of elections in localities of 10,000 population or more, has given up the fight and has agreed to provide the machines for the next elections.

The city had no alternative. The supreme court held many months ago that the legislature's act was a valid one, within in the constitutional requirement that the states are responsible for the management of elections, and directed the state attorney general to take such actions as needed to secure compliance. Earlier the city of Kenosha also had given up the fight, after having brought the appeal to the court in the hope of invalidating the legislative mandate.

It will be difficult for most persons concerned with efficient and accurate operation of the election process to understand the recalcitrance of some of our cities on this question. Indeed, there may be some curiosity why smaller cities have been exempt from the requirement of the law. Apparently involved is the capital cost of the purchase of the equipment, although

Reopening a Theatre

One of the most popular tourist attractions in crowded downtown Washington, D.C. is an ancient theatre that has not produced a performance since that black night of April 14, 1865, when an assassin's derringer killed President Abraham Lincoln as he sat in his box as one of the nation's most faithful lovers of the drama.

Now after more than a century, the building which has represented to millions of his fellow Americans a dark chapter in the life of his country, Ford's Theatre is about to reopen.

The site of the killing of the country's first martyred President during the last three years has been extensively rebuilt

Looking Backward
Episcopal Rector Accepts Call

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Feb. 1, 1868.
The Rev. George Gibson, Rector of Grace Episcopal Church in this city (Appleton), has received and accepted a call from St. Stephen's Parish in Chicago, and will at once enter upon his new field of labor.
Mr. Gibson has had charge of this Parish for about two years; and has warm affection and friendship of the society which he has left.
He leaves with regret and bears with him all the good wishes of all to his new home. A stirring, energetic, positive man, he will do his utmost to promote the interest of his Parish. May he meet with many warm friends to welcome him and aid him in his labors of love.

25 YEARS AGO
Thursday, Jan. 14, 1943.
Gov. Walter S. Goodland, in a simple and straight-forward message to the Wisconsin Legislature in joint session, asked for extraordinary economies in state government to conserve financial resources for the cost of the war and the problems to arise after the conflict. He also opposed with vigor a reduction in the state tax load.
Allan A. Mitchie, originally from Menasha, was to speak in Green Bay on his experiences as a war correspondent for Time, Life and Fortune Magazine when he lived with the British through 600 air raids. He was at Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941. At the time he was a roving editor for Reader's Digest and had recently returned from a trip through North Africa, India and China.

American authorities may think, the needs of the Vietnamese people in their own eyes may not be identical to the way we see it.

This is not a problem unique to Vietnam. To a lesser degree it exists in much of Asia and in many other underdeveloped countries. The Philippine politicians may lambast American influence and interference but American dollars keep them going. Taiwan has been able to stop asking for economic aid but it still gets a great deal of military aid and part of its economy is supported by the American military presence. Even thriving Japan rests securely under the American nuclear umbrella and sees little need to spend much of its own money on defense. In Latin America and Africa there continues to be a struggle between national pride and the need for American funds. But the problem is particularly acute in countries where nationalism is something new and sensitive or where efforts are being made at high levels to develop national pride.

In the true sense there are few real sovereign states in the world anymore, that is, countries which are free and independent and in no way limited by outside authority or influence. An American leader once declared that a country could be no more part sovereign than a woman could be part chaste but the semi-independent nations are a reality in today's world.

Another probable reality we should expect is a certain amount of anti-Americanism in Vietnam if peace ever does come. Just as United States leaders at one time saw our salvation in keeping away from Europe, new national leaders will portray American influence as evil or at least corrupting true national progress.

There is the possibility that President Thieu's most recent statements were inspired by American advisors in Saigon who do not want a halt in the bombing or a de-escalation of the war. If so, then Thieu's days of authority are limited however his own people may feel about the war. As they grow in political maturity they are bound to cast out puppet rulers and come to resent the authorities which set them up.

when the outlays of modern localities for less exigent public services are compared, the $42,000 expenditure contemplated in Marinette, for example, is not exorbitant.

It is our understanding, moreover, that cities have an option of leasing the machines, if they are reluctant to make such cash outlays. Moreover, there is some promise of new devices at lower cost that can mechanize the business of recording and computing accurately the expressions of qualified voters as they record them at the polls. The legislature has had an interim committee examining such alternatives for the last two years, and it should continue the search, if only because in the future there is likely to be a demand for the modernizing of the counting procedures in the entire state, size of the jurisdiction notwithstanding.

The responsibility of assuring clean and fair election counts in this state has been managed reasonably well, and especially when some of the horrors in other jurisdictions are recalled. When they are recalled, it is useful to remember that they are usually associated with the use of the old-fashioned paper ballots, which provide no guarantees against tampering when the temptation or the opportunity occurs.

and remodeled at a cost of $2.7 millions, and under the direction of the U.S. Department of Interior which has been its custodian. The reopening is scheduled for January 30 by the President's cabinet and the Ford Theatre society.

There will be music, and drama and dance. Says Mrs. Frank Hewitt, the head of the society, the theatre as restored will symbolize not only tragic history but the murdered President's "zest for life, as indicated by his love for the performing arts."

The opening will be nationally televised, and it should be one of the most attractive television offerings of the winter season.

Congress Will Pick Up Debate

BY JOSEPH KRAFT
WASHINGTON — As the Congress reconvenes this year it is practically certain that most of the old battles will be picked up just where the fighting left off last year. But that unpleasant prospect is lit by one faint ray of hope for change.

Kraft

The hope is that there will be a moderation of the intense feeling on racial issues which dominated so much of the last session of the Congress. It is just possible that the Congress in this session will give expression to a national mood that moves beyond backlash.

Resumption of the old battles is practically guaranteed with respect to Vietnam and tax policy. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is preparing an investigation of the Tonkin Gulf resolution that is apt to raise anew all the familiar issues that cluster around the war. As to taxes, despite assiduous wooing by

Wisconsin Report
Legislature Faced
With Need for Funds
For Medical Schools

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — Perhaps anyone who has ever waited in his doctor's office and observed the pressures upon typical practitioners has been aware in a general way about a manpower shortage in the medical profession and related occupations. That Wisconsin like some other parts of the country needs more medical manpower in an era of exploding health service demands has been generally known among its public policymakers.

Wyngaard

Now, the story has been told in explicit terms by a prestigious task force that has studied Wisconsin needs, present and future, in detail. Not only is the report of the study committee a forceful documentation of the popular impression, but it sets out bluntly the fiscal implications of any serious effort to relieve the problem.

In summary, the study report presented to the governor and the Legislature suggests a multi-million dollar expenditure of public funds during the next decade to provide the facilities to double, as a minimum, the annual output of qualified physicians in Wisconsin training schools, which it says will probably require the total replacement and relocation as well as considerable expansion of the University of Wisconsin Medical School at Madison, the creation of a sister school at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and public subsidies to save the historic Marquette Medical School from bankruptcy and extinction.

LOW RATIO HERE
In its "We Like it Here" promotion of its attractions through advertisements placed around the country, the state makes the most of its many superior qualities and attractions. The medical manpower and training task force did not blink at the problems in medical service needs, however, as it reported matter-of-factly that Wisconsin has a net outmigration of physicians each year, that it has a far lower ratio of physicians to population than the rest of the country, and that it also has a considerably lower ratio than the average for the upper Midwest region of which it is a part.

Nationally, there are 143 physicians per 100,000 of population. The average for the Upper Midwest is 136. The Wisconsin figure is put at 119. In spite of the enormous increase in the demand for health service in general, this state recently has attained an average increase of only 142 physicians each year.

It may be presumed that the need for more training facilities will be persuasive enough, when the next Legislature settles down to the task of pondering it and deciding what to do about it.

The more pertinent questions are whether the policymakers will be willing or able to provide the public money that is involved at a time of unrelenting pressures for other services, notably in higher education, whether the state wants three medical schools through the creation of a new institution, or if it would be more advisable to enlarge the facilities at Madison and at Marquette.

PRIVATE EDUCATION
Within that question is another that may be even more difficult.

It is worthy of note that the task force report pointedly commented that it "did not address itself to the public policy question of providing public funds to a private educational institution."

In an appendix, the report offers an opinion of the state attorney general that such support would not violate the state constitution, but the opinion contained so many qualifications that it may not be wholly convincing. Chances are that the issue will be referred to the Supreme Court before the uncertainties are resolved.

It was for that reason that Assemblyman Norman Anderson, an influential member of the Assembly, filed a dissenting minority report as a member of the study group. He did not propose to vote for something in his capacity as a member of the task force that he could not support as a legislator, he explained.

In expectation of some state assistance, the Marquette school has been separated and is now an independent corporation. As the first school of medicine in the state, it has been the major contributor to medical manpower here. More than half of all of the Wisconsin-trained physicians in Wisconsin are Marquette graduates.

Strictly Personal Thoughts at Large Occupy Harris Today

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS
Conservative thinkers are too concerned with the means of running society, ignoring the larger ends; while liberal thinkers are so concerned with the ends that they often adopt fuzzy and self-defeating means: whereas no public philosophy can succeed unless it combines the rigorous logic of the conservative with the benevolent aims of the liberal — which has always been society's crying need.

Most people would not "believe in God" at all if they were not allowed to recreate Him in the image of their own race, nation, dogmas and prejudices.

It is only when we closely regard the pleasures of the rich that we are able to comprehend their miseries.

Nothing done to make us angry is as harmful to us as what we do as a result of such anger: and the instinct for revenge has not only ruined individuals, it has toppled whole empires.

Everyone implicitly supposes that he "deserves" happiness, even though he does nothing to generate it in the atmosphere around him; indeed, the very thought of "deserving" it only makes it more elusive.

Some words are meant to be written and not spoken; although I have seen "eschewed" in print many times, I have never heard anyone use it in conversation, although actually it fits a need that no other word quite supplies.

The metaphor of "climbing the ladder of success" is sadly outdated; with the rise of the huge, impersonal corporation, many men get on the escalator and rise simply by standing still.

Industrial civilization makes things accessible to those who have no idea of the labor, thought and imagination that have gone into the making of those things, and thus tend to take them for granted; while in a primitive society, the value of products is accurately known and appreciated by all — which unifies the society in mutual respect.

We all pay lip-service to the character-building nature of "adversity," and then we all spend a lifetime trying to make sure that our children experience as little of the real thing as possible.

Hilbert Football Coach Told to Buy Uniforms

School Board Also Discusses Delays in Transporting Pupils From Sherwood School

HILBERT — A preliminary football budget was presented to the board of education Monday by Richard Werblow, head coach, who received approval to purchase new white game uniforms.

They were ordered by another school, which had consolidated and unable to use the blue-white color scheme, so Hilbert was able to buy the equipment at a saving. The equipment is expected to cost about $600.

Werblow also discussed other items but asked only for approval of the uniforms because of the special offer.

Accepted Offer

In other action the board accepted an offer from Stump Ford, Sherwood, for a second driver education car. The firm, along with Central Garage, Cotter, has supplied cars to the school for several years, but due to a strike the manufacturers had been unable to make the offer earlier.

It was mentioned that driver education instructor, Dan Strauss, had suggested favoring the second vehicle be equipped with a standard transmission so students would learn to drive cars with automatic and standard shifts. Previously vehicles supplied by the Sherwood firm had been station wagons, and the board favored continuing with that style car.

Inadequate heating in several classrooms and the agriculture room resulted in the board authorizing Earl Anderson, supervising principal to contact August Winter & Son, Appleton, heating firm, to try to remedy the situation. The problem is with the oil heating furnace in the high school department.

Partial Payment

A letter from John Karis, Stockbridge, informed the board that he was unable to be present at the meeting to discuss in detail his bill for the new gas furnace installed in the elementary school and the incinerator. However, the board agreed to pay $2,000 of the $2,487 total and asked him to be at the February session.

Correspondence also was received from the Wisconsin Federation of Teachers announcing the "Wind," a drama on peace, will be Oct. 3-4 and explaining the rights of its members regarding attendance and payment.

A letter written by Julian Biehler, superintendent of Kaukauna Public Schools, sent to Ecumenical Laymen's Group.

Leroux Says His Sister, Not He, Killed Their Parents

from the house on the night of the fire and later found in Mark's Stevens Point apartment was his father's pool cue. For the second time he appeared close to tears and said, "My father and I had two things in common, interest in guns and liking to play pool. The game of pool we played earlier that night was the last thing we did together and I had to have something of my father's," Mark said.

Mark went on to tell how Jeanette did not get along with her parents and, on one occasion after he had left home, she had told him how bad things were at home and she wanted to run away.

During her testimony under cross-examination, Wednesday morning, Jeanette told of the plans she and a girl friend had made to run away to San Francisco and join a hippie group. The plans were never carried out though, she said.

The Rev. Douglas Dempster, a Catholic priest from Cambridge, Md., and half brother of Mark, testified that Mark appeared to be very calm prior to and during the funeral of his parents. "Both Jeanette and Mark were overly composed at the funeral and each was a little bit too calm," Father Dempster said.

Jeanette was the first witness to be questioned by Portage County Dist. Atty. Wendell Crosby Tuesday. She was recalled to the stand Wednesday morning to be cross-examined by Jenkins.

Admits Fire

Before leaving the house, Mark admitted starting the fire upstairs. Asked by his attorney, Robert Jenkins, why he started the fire, Mark replied, "My parents meant something to me. The community had a good impression of them and they were well liked and had made their mark in Amherst. I would much rather have had it thought that they were victims of a tragedy than the victims of murder by one of their own children. This was my reason for burning the house," he said.

slightly built, sandy haired youth said from his seat in the witness box.

Leroux denied making statements to Jeanette about committing the perfect crime. He also denied having a telephone conversation with his sister from Chicago about whether or not anyone was suspicious.

Asked if Jeanette had ever told him what had happened upstairs in the house and why she shot her parents, Mark said no, and added "I didn't even want to know."

NEW LONDON — A memorial fund for the Dr. Pfeifer Park shelter house has been initiated by the Jaycees.

May 1 has been set for beginning construction of the Dr. Pfeifer Memorial Building. Dr. Pfeifer had served the community for 58 years. In mid-1967 he made a $2,000 contribution to the shelter house fund.

Doug Wolfe, Jaycee president, said the club would have to double the present fund of $6,688 to pay for completing the project.

Vern Otto, fund chairman, said canisters would be placed in New London business places by Monday and that other people wanting to contribute to the fund can do so by mailing contributions to New London Jaycees, Box 8, and indicating the money is for the shelter project.

Flood Plain Ordinance To be Adopted by May

New London Gives Timetable to DRD for Compliance With New Water Quality Law

NEW LONDON — Council said the truck has been found to members were informed Tuesday in good condition during its day that the Natural Resources Division of the Department of Resource Development had been notified that a flood plain ordinance would probably be adopted by the city in May.

Ray Pelishek, public works director, said that a Jan. 1 deadline had been set for cities to indicate to the resource agency when flood plain control ordinances were likely to be adopted, if not already in effect.

He said data from the U.S. Corps of Army Engineers on a flood plain survey was needed before any local ordinance could be adopted.

In other business the council turned over information on a bargaining and labor practices seminar set March 28-30 in Madison, over to the personnel committee. The seminar will feature many noted speakers and persons involved in labor negotiation and relations work.

A 1963 model, one-ton truck was purchased from Freiburger's Inc., for $650 for use by the city park department. The city street department has been renting the truck for five months.

The $45 per month rental fee was deducted from the purchase price.

Ald. Fred Noack (3rd. park board chairman, said perhaps other businesses would be interested in selling a truck to the city, but he didn't know how they could compete with the price given by Freiburger's. He

Douglas Hadly Named President; Stordock Continues as Secretary

WAUPACA — Douglas Hadly had been purchased by the chamber several years ago, but because of insufficient funds they were unable to replace them this year, it was explained.

Also named were C. Kenneth Petersen, vice president, and Evelyn Gyldevand, treasurer. G. H. Stordock was re-elected secretary. Three directors were re-elected to three-year terms. They were Earl Larson, Richard Lemhart and Melvin Matheson.

Petersen subsequently resigned as a director to permit the appointment of Russell Helms. Edward Kramer also was appointed to replace Herbert Moore.

Membership Drive

One of the major projects of the chamber for 1968 will be to recruit new members. Several members expressed concern over why several Main Street businesses are not chamber members.

The financing and purchase of new Christmas street decorations for the city also will be a prime project.

The need for new street decorations came to light last December when it was learned that, because of the condition of the present street decorations, it had been planned not to display them. Many citizens objected, prompting Mayor Lloyd Matheson to direct city employees to install the old decorations. The decorations emphasize the meaning of freedom; and Mrs. Charles Clocke, dom

Outline Conditions For Bombing Halt

Nixon Requires Fighting Stop; Romney to Start State Campaign

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS it "is more likely to end by pe- tering out rather than by nego- tiation."

While Richard M. Nixon laid down conditions for the end of a bombing in North Vietnam in a story published today in Rich- mond, Va., Gov. George Rom- ney of Michigan announced a break in his presidential cam- paigning in New Hampshire to open a second front in Wiscon- sin.

"We should not stop bombing if they start talking. We should only stop bombing if they stop fighting," declared Nixon, unan- imously endorsed by the Re- publican presidential nomi- nation.

The former vice president also was quoted as saying "there is a chance the war could come to an end before the elections in November" but that Nixon's views were expressed in a copyright interview with members of the editorial page staff and executives of the News Leader, conducted in Richmond, last Thursday and published in today's editions.

With reference to his position on a bombing halt, Nixon said: "Many will say that's a hawk position, and if it's a hawk position, I should point out it's also a peace position. We must never forget that most of the American casualties in Korea, occurred after talks began. We could not fight, and our hands were tied behind our back. We must not make that same mis- take in South Vietnam."

Nixon said that if he becomes an announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomina- tion, he has "determined... definitely to go down that long, hard primary road."

The Michigan governor sched- uled a Saturday mission to Mil- waukee to open his campaign for the April 2 Wisconsin pri- mary.

But the New Hampshire pri- mary March 12 still tops the Romney agenda. He plans to re- turn to this state in a week to resume his uphill race against Nixon.

"We've had much more sup- port than we'd anticipated," Romney said in climaxing a five-day campaign that criss- crossed New Hampshire for nearly 1,000 miles. "We're greatly heartened."

Romney managers claimed the governor had seen more than 11,000 persons.

As Romney wound up the visit Wednesday night with a speech in Dover, a young boy in the audience asked him: "What do you think your chances of be- coming president are, and why?"

Romney laughed. "I think I'm as big an under- dog right now in the presidency race as I was in the automobile business," said the candidate who once headed American Mo- tors Corp.

"I think I'll win because I'm discussing issues more directly and I think I have more experi- ence and background than the others who are running for elec- tion this year."

The "unified budget" which Johnson said he will present Jan. 29 will for the first time include expenditures for such huge government trust funds as Social Security and highway and other activities.

Johnson expressed pride that today, "Americans are prosper- ous as men have never been in recorded history." He talked of Gross National Product, personal incomes, new cars, college enrollments and the fact, "More and more families own their own homes, equipped with more than 70 million television sets."

"Yet, said Johnson, "there is in the land a certain restlessness—a questioning." He explained it this way: "Because when a great ship cuts through the sea, the waters are always stirred and troubled."

Call for Surtax

Johnson's renewed call for a 10 per cent income tax sur- charge got a frigid reception. There was no response from the floor when he warned: "Interest rates have passed the peak of 1966; and if there is continued inaction on the tax bill they will climb even higher."

Continuation of Congress' Hostility Follows LBJ Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presi- dent Johnson's State of the Union remarks on peace prospects drew a frigid response from some fellow Democrats and other initial congressional reaction pointed to continued hostility to- ward increases in taxes and spending.

Eight Republican governors Mills, of the House Ways and Means Committee, declined to comment, saying he wanted to see Johnson's spending figures and the budget is due for pres- entation to Congress by Jan. 29.

Johnson told Congress Wednesday night that if a basis for peace talks can be estab- lished with North Vietnam his hope would be for a complete cease-fire as the first order of business.

His brief remarks on the pros- pects for peace drew applause —but not from Democratic Sens. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and J. William Ful- bright of Arkansas. They are two leading critics of Johnson's war policy.

Winning Neither

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, seeking the Demo- cratic presidential nomination on a platform of opposition to Johnson's Vietnam policies, said: "We still are told the na- tion can wage and win two wars—the one in Vietnam and the war on poverty. We are waging one, but not winning either."

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said today President Johnson's message "points up the tragic fact that none of our major domestic problems are going to be resolved until there is a change: More jobs, rebuilding U.S. cities and more housing."

He said that many of the Pres- ident's proposals had his "en- tire support," including "the pledge to seek a complete cessation of hostilities in Viet- nam, the promise to wage an expanded war on air and water pollution, the pledge to rebuild our cities, the new emphasis on consumer protection legislation and the effort to deal with crime in our streets, but for every new hope it seemed there was also a dire warning."

Proxmire Opposition

The President's renewed ap- peal for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge, coupled with his announcement that spending would be increased by some 10.4 billion, drew criticism or opposi- tion from such prominent Dem- ocrats as Sen. William Proxmire, chairman of the joint Eco- nomic Committee and Sen. Russell B. Long, chairman of the more than $10 billion in gold to Senate Finance Committee. Re- publicans joined in the attack. Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking Com- mittee also endorsed this pro- posal.

The key congressman on the Committee, a Democrat, gen- eral, endorsed Johnson's speech, but he added that "in all but the imperative necessities, we ought to close our eyes to each and every increase requested over the present level."

The senior Republican on Ma- hon's committee, Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, said Johnson's budget figures are too high. He said he would begin a campaign at once to cut spending by $8 billion. Bow led a successful drive last year to cut spending by about $4.1 billion.

Gerald R. Ford also indicated there will be a strong GOP push for spending cuts rather than support for a tax boost.

The President was compli- mented for a "good, strong speech" by Mrs. Johnson, who attended the joint session. She came to the President's decision to call for the removal of the gold from her pet projects, beau- tification and conservation.

Text of State of Union Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following is the complete text of President Johnson's State of the Union message delivered Wednesday night to a joint session of Congress.

Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, members of the Congress, my fellow Americans:

I have come once again to this chamber—the hall of our democracy—to give you, as the constitution requires, information of the state of the union.

I was thinking, as I was walking down the aisle here tonight, of what Sam Rayburn told me many years ago. The occurred that have major consequences for world peace.

The Kennedy Round achieved the greatest reduction in tariff barriers in all the history of trade negotiations.

The nations of Latin America at Punta del Este resolved to move toward economic integration.

In Asia, nations from Korea and Japan to Indonesia and Singapore worked behind America's shield to strengthen their economies and broaden their political cooperation.

In Africa the spirit of regional cooperation is beginning to take hold in practical ways.

Number of Crises

These events we welcomed. Yet since I last reported to you, we and the world have been confronted by a number of crises.

During the Arab-Israeli war last June, the hot line between Washington and Moscow was used for the first time in history. A cease-fire was achieved without a major power confrontation.

Now the nations of the Middle East have the opportunity—and the responsibility—to find the terms of living together in stable peace and dignity, and we shall do all in our power to help them achieve that result.

Not far from this scene of conflict, a crisis flared on Cyprus—involving two peoples who are America's friends: Greece and Turkey. Our representative, Cyrus Vance, and others helped to ease this tension.

Turmoil continues on the mainland of China after a year of violent disruption. The radical extremism of our government has isolated the Chinese people behind their borders. The United States, however, remains willing to permit the travel of journalists to both our countries; to undertake cultural and educational exchanges; and to talk about the exchange of basic food crop materials.

Kosygin's Visit

Since I spoke to you last, the United States and the Soviet Union have taken several important steps toward the goal of international cooperation.

I met at length with Chairman Kosygin—achieving, if not accord, at least a clearer understanding of our respective positions.

Because we believe the nuclear danger must be narrowed, we have worked with the Soviet Union and other nations to reach an agreement that will halt the spread of nuclear weapons. On the basis of communications from Ambassador Fisher in Geneva today, I am encouraged to believe that a draft treaty can be laid before the conference there in the near future. Therefore, I hope to be able to present that treaty to the Senate this year for its approval.

We achieved, in 1967, a consular treaty with the Soviets, the first commercial air agreement between our two countries, and a treaty banning weapons in outer space. We shall sign, and submit to the Senate shortly, a new treaty for the protection of astronauts.

Serious differences remain between us, yet in these relations, we have made some progress since Vienna, the Berlin Wall and the Cuban missile crisis.

Despite this progress, we must maintain a military force capable of deterring any threat to our Nation's security, whatever the mode of aggression. Our choices must not be confined to total war—or total acquiescence.

We have such a military force today.

I wish—with all my heart—that the expenditures necessary to build and protect our power—could all be devoted to the programs of peace. But until world conditions permit, and until peace is assured, America's might—and America's bravest sons who wear our nation's uniform—must continue to stand guard for all of us—as they gallantly do tonight in Vietnam and other places.

Yet neither great weapons, nor individual courage, can provide the conditions of peace.

Threats to Peace

For two decades America has committed itself against the tyranny of want and ignorance that threatens the peace. We shall sustain that commitment.

This year I shall propose: —That we launch, with other nations, an exploration of the ocean depths to tap its wealth, energy, and abundance.

—That we contribute our fair share to a major expansion of the international development association, and to increase the resources of the Asian Development Bank.

—That we adopt a prudent aid program: rooted in the principle of self-help.

—That we renew and extend the Food for Freedom program.

Our food programs have already helped millions avoid the horrors of famine.

But unless the rapid growth of population in developing countries is slowed, the gap between rich and poor will widen steadily.

Government in the developing countries must take such facts into account. We are prepared to assist them in their efforts.

But we must also improve the lives of children already born in the villages, towns, and cities on this earth. They can be taught by great teachers through the miracle of satellite television—and we shall bring to bear every resource of mind and technology to make this dream come true.

Here in America

Let me speak now of matters here at home.

Tonight our nation is accomplishing more for its people than has ever been accomplished before. Americans are prosperous as men have never been in recorded his-for some Americans between the promise and the reality of our society.

We cannot change all of this in a day. It represents the bitter consequences of more than three centuries.

The issue is not whether we can change this: the issue is whether we will change this.

I know we can. I believe we will.

This then is the work we should do in the months ahead.

The first essential is more jobs: useful jobs for tens of thousands who can become productive citizens and pay their own way.

Our economy has created seven and a half million new jobs in the past four years. It is adding more than a million and a half new jobs this year.

Through programs passed by the Congress, job training is now being given to more than a million Americans.

Hardest to Reach

This year, we must get to the hard-core unemployed—the hardest to reach.

Employment officials estimate that 500,000 of these persons are now unemployed in our major cities. Our objective is to place these 500,000 in private industry jobs within the next three years.

To do this, we propose a $2.1 billion manpower program in the coming fiscal year—a 25 per cent increase over the current year. Most of the increase will be used to start a new partnership between government and private industry to train and hire the hard-core unemployed. I know of no task before us of more importance for our future.

Another essential—we must rebuild our cities.

Last year the Congress authorized $662 million for the Model Cities program. I requested the full amount of that authorization to help meet the crisis in our cities. But the Congress appropriated only $312 million—less than half.

This year I urge the Congress to honor my request for Model Cities' funds to rebuild the centers of American cities $1 billion.

The next essential is more housing—and more housing now.

Surely a nation that can go to the moon can place a decent home within the reach of its families.

Therefore we must call together the resources of industry and labor, to start building 300,000 housing units for low and middle-income families next year—three times more than this year. We must make it possible for thousands of families to become homeowners, not rent-payers.

I propose, for the consideration of this Congress, a ten-year campaign to build, six million new housing units for low and middle-income families.

Children's Health

Better health for children—all our children—is essential for a better America.

Last year, medicare, Medicaid, and other new programs brought better health to more than 25 million Americans.

American medicine—with the strong support and cooperation of public resources—has produced a phenomenal decline in the death rate from many diseases.

But it is a shocking fact that, in saving the lives of babies, America ranks 15th among the nations of the world. And among children, crippling defects are often discovered too late for corrective action. This is a tragedy that America can, and should, prevent.

And when we do that, you will find that it is the best investment we ever made, because we will get these diseases in their infancy, and we will find a cure in a great many instances that we can never find by overcrowding our hospitals when they are grown.

I shall propose to the Congress a child health program to provide, over the next five years, for families unable to afford it—access to health services from prenatal care of the mother through the child's first year.

When we act to advance the consumer's cause, we help every American.

Last year, with little fanfare, Congress and the executive branch did just that.

We enacted the Wholesome Meat Act, Flammable Fabrics, the Product Safety Commission, and a law to improve clinical laboratories.

Now it is time to complete our unfinished work. The Senate has already passed Truth-in-Lending, Fire Safety, and Pipeline Safety laws.

Commodity Exchanges

I urge the House immediately to approve these measures. And I call upon the Congress to enact, without delay, the remainder of the 12 vital consumer protection laws I submitted last year.

I also urge final action on a measure—reported out today by the Senate Agriculture Committee and already passed by the House—to guard against fraud and manipulation in the nation's commodity exchanges.

These measures are a pledge to our people—to keep them safe in their homes and at work, and to give them a fair deal in the marketplace.

And we must do more. I propose:

—New powers for the Federal Trade Commission to stop those who defraud and swindle the public.

—New safeguards to insure the quality of fish and poultry, and the safety of our community water supplies.

—A major study of automobile insurance.

—Protection against hazardous radiation from television sets and other electronic equipment.

And to give the consumer a stronger voice, I will appoint a consumer counsel—a lawyer for the American consumer—to work directly under the Attorney General and serve the President's Special Assistant for Consumer Affairs.

This Congress—Democrats and Republicans—can earn the thanks of history. We can make this truly a new day for consumer protection, and live in history as the consumer-conscious era.

So let us act now.

Increase in Crime

We, at every level of government in this nation, know that the American people have had enough of rising crime and lawlessness.

They recognize that law enforcement is first the duty of local police and local government.

They recognize that the front line headquarters against crime is in the home, the church, the city hall and the state house—not in far-removed Washington.

But the people also recognize that the national government can and should help the states and cities in their war on crime to the full extent of its resources and constitutional authority. This we shall do.

This does not mean a national police force. It does mean help and financial support.

—To develop state and local master plans to combat crime.

—To provide better training and better pay for police, and —To bring the most advanced technology to the war on crime in every city and county in America.

There is no more urgent business before the Congress than to pass the Safe Streets Act I proposed last year. That law will provide these required funds. They are so critically needed that I have doubled my request under this act to $100 million in fiscal 1969.

Gun Controls

I urge the Congress to stop the trade in mail order murder this year by adopting a proper gun control law.

This year, I will propose a Drug Control Act to provide stricter penalties for those who traffic in LSD and other dangerous drugs.

I will ask for more vigorous enforcement of all our drug laws by increasing the number of federal drug and narcotics control officials by more than one-third. It is time to stop the sale of slavery to the young. I also request funds to add immediately 100 Assistant United States Attorneys throughout the land to help prosecute our criminal laws. They too will give special attention to drug abuse.

We have increased our judiciary by 40 per cent, but we have increased our prosecutors by 16, and the dockets are full of cases because we do not have assistant district attorneys to go in before the federal judge and handle them. And we start these young lawyers at $8,200 a year. And the docket is clogged because we do not have authority to hire 100 more.

These young men will give special attention to this drug abuse, too.

Finally, I ask you to add 100 FBI agents to strengthen law enforcement in the nation and to protect the individual rights of every citizen.

A moment ago I spoke of despair and frustrated hopes in the cities where the fires of disorder burned last summer. We can—and in time we will—change that despair into confidence, and change those frustrations into achievements. But violence will not bring progress. We can make progress only by attacking the causes of violence and only where there is a civil order founded on justice.

Today we are helping local Congress always extends a very warm welcome to the President, as he comes in.

I report to you that our country is challenged at home and abroad.

—That it is our will that is being tried not our strength, our sense of purpose, not our ability to achieve a better America.

—That we have the strength to meet our every challenge, the physical strength to hold the cause of decency and compassion at home, the moral strength to support the cause of peace in the world.

And I report to you that I believe, with abiding conviction, that this people—nurtured by their deep faith, tutored by their hard lessons, moved by their high aspirations—have the will to meet the trials these times impose.

Vietnam Elections

Since I reported to you last January, three elections have been held in Vietnam in the midst of war and under the constant threat of violence.

—A President, Vice President, a House and Senate, and village officials have been chosen by popular, contested ballot.

—The enemy has been defeated in battle after battle.

—The number of South Vietnamese living in areas under government protection has grown by more than a million since January of last year.

These are marks of progress.

Yet

—The enemy continues to pour men and material across frontiers and into battle, despite his very heavy losses.

—He continues to hope that America's will to persevere can be broken. He is wrong. America will persevere. Our patience and our perseverance will match our power.

Aggression will never prevail.

But our goal is peace—and peace at the earliest possible moment.

Right now we are exploring the meaning of Hanoi's recent statement. There is no mystery about the questions which must be answered before the bombing is stopped.

We believe then that any talks should follow the San Antonio formula stated last September, which said:

—The bombing would stop if talks would take place promptly and with reasonable hopes they would be productive.

—And the other side must not take advantage of our restraint as they have in the past. This nation simply cannot accept anything less without jeopardizing the lives of our men and our allies.

True Cease-Fire

If a basis for peace talks can be established on the San Antonio foundations—and it is my hope and my prayer that they can—we would consult with our allies and with the other side to see if a complete cessation of hostilities—a really true ceasefire—could be made the first order of business. I will report at the earliest possible moment the results of these explorations.

I have just recently returned from very productive talks with His Holiness the Pope and I share his hope, expressed only today, that both sides will extend themselves in an effort to bring about an end to the war in Vietnam. I have assured him that we and our allies will do our full part to bring this about.

Since I spoke to you last January, other events have officials improve their capacity to deal promptly with disorder.

Those who preach disorder and violence must know that local authorities are able to resist them swiftly, sternly, and decisively.

Farmers' Income

I shall recommend other actions:

To raise the farmers' income by establishing a security commodity reserve that will protect the market from price-depressing stocks and the consumer from food scarcity.

Programs to help farmers bargain more effectively for fair prices.

A new air safety program. Measures to stem the rising costs of medical care.

Legislation to encourage our returning veterans to devote themselves to careers in community service, such as teaching, being firemen and joining our police forces and our law enforcement officials.

Programs to strengthen and finance our anti-pollution efforts.

Fully funding all of the $2.2 billion poverty program you in the Congress just authorized to bring opportunity to those who have been left behind.

An Educational Opportunity Act to step up our drive to break down financial barriers separating our young people from college.

I shall also urge the Congress to act on several vital bills pending:

Especially, the civil rights measures—fair jury trials, protection of federal rights, enforcement of equal employment, and fair housing.

The unfinished work of the first session must be completed: — the Higher Education Act, the Juvenile Delinquency Act, conservation measures to save the redwoods of California, and to preserve the wonder of our scenic rivers, the Highway Beautification Act — and all the other measures for a cleaner and better America.

Nation's Economy

Next month we begin our eighth year of uninterrupted prosperity. The economic outlook for this year is one of steady growth—if we are vigilant.

True, there are some clouds on the horizon. Prices are rising. Interest rates have passed the peak of 1966; and if there is continued inaction on the tax bill, they will climb even higher.

I warn the nation that this failure to act will sweep us into an accelerating spiral of price increases: a slump in home building; and a continuing erosion of the American dollar.

This would be a tragedy for every American family. And I predict that if it happens, they will all let us know about it.

We—those of us in the executive branch, in the Congress and the leaders of labor and business — must do all we can to prevent this misfortune.

Under the new budget, expenditures for 1969 will increase by $10.4 billion. Receipts will be up by $22.3 billion including the added tax revenues. Virtually all of this expenditure increase represents the extra mandatory cost of our defense efforts, increased interest, or mandatory payments under laws passed by Congress—such as those provided in the Social Security Act of 1967, and to Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries, veterans and farmers. With few exceptions, we are holding the fiscal 1969 budget to last year's level, outside of those mandatory and required increases.

A presidential commission composed of distinguished congressional fiscal experts and other prominent Americans recommended this year that we adopt a new budget approach. I am carrying out their unanimous recommendations. This budget, therefore accurately covers all federal expenditures and receipts, including for the first time $47 billion from the Social Security, Medicare, highway and other trust funds.

$186 Billion

The fiscal 1969 budget has expenditures of approximately $186 billion, with total estimated revenues, including the tax bill, of about $178 billion.

If the Congress enacts the tax increase, we will reduce the budget deficit by some $12 billion—from about $20 billion in 1968 to $8 billion in 1969.

This is a tight budget. It follows upon the reduction I made in cooperation with the Congress — a reduction of approximately $10 billion in appropriations and $4 billion in expenditures in fiscal 1968. It provides for a much lower increase in expenditures than occurred in 1967 or 1968.

Certain selected programs to meet the nation's most urgent needs have been increased. We have insisted that decreases in very desirable, but less urgent, programs be made before approving the increases.

I ask the Congress: —To hold its appropriations to the budget requests, and —To act responsibly early this year by enacting the tax surcharge which for the average individual amounts to about a penny out of each dollar's income.

This tax increase would yield about half of the $23 billion per year we returned to the people in the tax reduction bills of 1964 and 1965.

Temporary Measure

This must be a temporary measure, which expires in less than two years. Congress can repeal it sooner if the need has passed. But Congress cannot repeal inflation.

The leaders of American business and American labor —those who really have power over wages and prices—must act responsibly, and in the Nation's interest, by keeping increases in line with productivity. If our recognized leaders do not do this, they and those for whom they speak and all of us will suffer serious consequences.

On Jan. 1, I outlined a program to reduce our balance of payments deficit sharply this year. We will ask the Congress to help carry out those parts of the program which require legislation. We must restore equilibrium to our balance of payments.

We must also strengthen the international monetary system. We have assured the world that our full gold stock stands behind our commitment to maintain the price of gold at $35 an ounce. We must back this commitment by legislating now to free our gold reserves.

Americans, traveling more than any other people in history, took $4 billion out of their country last year in travel costs. We must reduce the travel deficit of $2 billion by $500 million — without unduly penalizing the travel of teachers, business people, students and Americans who have relatives abroad. Even with the reduction of $500 million, the American people will still be traveling more overseas than at any time in their history.

If we act together as we should, we can continue our economic expansion which has already broken all past records.

Conclusion

Each of the questions I have discussed tonight is a question of policy for our people. Therefore each of them should be—and doubtless will be—debated by candidates for public office.

I hope those debates will be marked by new proposals, and by a seriousness that matches the gravity of the questions themselves.

These are not appropriate subjects for narrow, partisan oratory. They go to the heart of what we Americans are all about—all of us, Democrats and Republicans.

Tonight I have spoken of some of the goals I should like to see America reach. Many of them can be achieved this year—others by the time we celebrate our nation's 200th birthday—the bicentennial of our independence.

Several will be hard to reach. But the state of our union will be much stronger eight years from now if we resolve to reach them now. They are more important—much more important—than the identity of the party, or the president who will then be in office.

These goals are what the fighting and our alliances are really meant to protect.

Can we achieve these goals? Of course we can—if we will.

If ever there were a people who sought more than mere abundance, it is our people.

If ever there were a nation capable of solving its problems, it is this nation.

If ever there were a time to know the pride and excitement and hope of being an American—it is this time.

This, my friends, is the state of our union: seeking, building, tested many times this past year—and always equal to the test.

From CCHE's McPhee

Impromptu Lecture Given to Weidner

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — An enthusiastic newcomer to the state's educational system has finally met one of Wisconsin's old hands at collegiate administration.

Chancellor Edward W. Weidner, chancellor of the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, found himself on the receiving end of an impromptu lecture of sage advice from Eugene R. McPhee, 20-year veteran of heading the state university system, as Weidner completed outlining his academic plans for the new school to a sub-unit of the Coordination Council for Higher Education.

Weidner, appointed just over a year ago after a long career in other states, received some friendly — but blunt — hints from McPhee.

The two men had not met previously.

“4-1-4 Calendar”

Weidner is planning a “4-1-4” academic calendar, which calls for two four month semesters, separated by the month of January in which neither students nor professors will be in formal classes.

Most students and professors will be involved in special educational pursuits, but formal classes will not be held during the period.

McPhee said that the president of his system's faculty had suggested such a plan for the state universities, and that such a plan is being put into effect at private Marquette University.

“But I think that the fiscal reaction from the Legislature will be negative,” he predicted for Weidner, explaining why he had rejected his faculty leader's suggestion.

It is difficult to get lawmakers to understand that the school year would not be shortened — and that pay scales should be reduced — under such a plan, he warned.

Turning his attentions on Weidner's plans to do away with traditional forms of freshman English on the campus which is planned to open in 1969, McPhee sounded further warnings.

Value Systems

Weidner hopes to replace the two courses with a two semester seminar covering the philosophy of value systems and man's relation with his environment.

The two new courses will be part of the core curriculum of the new school, and Weidner feels that the first year seminars will accomplish the necessary teaching of basic English courses.

“I wish you luck in substituting English 1 and 2 with other names,” said McPhee.

“I spent five years arguing with the University of Wisconsin English department because one of our schools called their basic course ‘communication arts,’” McPhee reported.

“But perhaps they have changed registrars,” he added.

Weidner took the occasion to repeat his hopes for complete transferability of credits earned at the new Green Bay campus with all other state-run schools.

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — I have heard a number of people laughing lately and find it somewhat puzzling.

What in the world can anyone find to laugh about in a year in which I'll be 57 years old? Certainly it is no laughing matter to me. On the other hand, it isn't anything to cry about either.

The advent of a birthday, even to a child, always stirs one to philosophic musings. But the approach of a 57th natal anniversary produces no stunning enlightenments, even though at 57 one is certainly getting near heaven.

Mankind Unimpressed
And it leaves the rest of mankind completely unimpressed. If you tell a friend your 57th birthday is coming up, he will look at you as if you were mildly daffy and then ask, "So what else is new?"

But on the vague possibility that someone might have a curiosity about how life is at 57, here is the way it seems to me who has reached that niche of mortality:

The condition of the weather fascinates you more than debates on the future of the minute.

The hair crop gets thinner on top of your head but thicker in your ears.

When a shoestring breaks you don't throw it away. You tie it together and go right on wearing it.

You'd rather be remembered on your birthday than at Christmas.

Familiar Face
When you see your picture in your old high school or college yearbook, the face reminds you of someone you used to know well but now have pretty much forgotten.

You get more real pleasure out of reading a seed catalog than a naughty new novel.

The snows of today are nowhere near as deep as those that fell in your youth, but for some reason they are harder to wade through.

It worries your wife if you get your feet wet.

Even if a football game is close, you leave the stadium five minutes before it is over so that you won't get caught in the mob.

You become adjusted to the idea that indigestion is just a normal way of life.

Visit Doctor
As you visit the dentist less often—after all, there isn't much left for him to work on—you visit the doctor more.

Whenever some bright young whiz kid comes up with a new suggestion during an office conference, you snicker inside. It is old stuff to you. You can remember at least three other times during your career when that same suggestion was advanced and discarded.

It annoys you now and then when you start to look around for your bifocals and discover you already have them on.

No one who has a better job than you worries that you may take it away from him. If you were going to do it, you'd have done it by now.

At retirement parties for others you wonder what the guys will give you as a farewell gift when your time comes to quit. You hope it won't be a gold watch. You'd have more use for a gold sun dial.

Stand in Line
You think anyone who stands in line to get into a movie must be out of his mind.

The social graces don't trouble you so much. If you feel like scratching in public, you go right ahead and scratch in public.

It flatters you when your daughter tells you, "I know you ought to take off some of that weight. Dad, but if you did there wouldn't be as much of you to love."

If someone remarks on how well you've been looking lately,

AAL Donates $1,000 To Missouri Seminary
The School for Graduate Studies of Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, has received $1,000 for its publication fund, used to cover the cost of publishing scholarly writings by students and faculty members.

The grant is the fourth of that amount since 1952 by Aid Association for Lutherans, fraternal life insurance society with home offices in Appleton.

Gary Rowe, 18, 521 1/2 W. Third St., was bound over to Circuit Court Tuesday following a preliminary hearing before Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr.

Rowe was charged, following investigation by Appleton detectives, with burglarizing a construction office April 8 at the Soldiers Square parking ramp in downtown Appleton.

Rowe, who has a court-ap attorney, filed an affidavit of prejudice against Judge County 4-H agent, will conduct Gustave J. Keller. No date was set for the Circuit Court arraignment.
